FINAL CALL TO VOTERS

State Election Tomorrow Expected to Bring Out Heavy Vote Here

Plan B Charter and Governor's Contest Centres of Local Interest

Lowell voters will go to the polls tomorrow to choose their state officials for 1920 and take action on six referenda, two of which vitally affect the city itself.

The polling places in the 28 Lowell precincts will open promptly at 6 a. m. and will close when the clock strikes 4 in the afternoon. The machinery for conducting the election is in readiness for the task before it and city hall officials looked forward today to the handling of a big vote in an expeditious and efficient manner.

Local returns will be available between 6 and 6:30 o'clock, City Clerk Flynn predicted today, and will continue on page 15.

TWO IMPORTANT LOCAL QUESTIONS

Among the questions on the ballot at tomorrow's election are two of great importance to the voters of Lowell. These are the charter question and that of the double platoon for our local freemen.

On the question of adopting Plan B it seems that the citizens should be thoroughly conversant with the defects in that charter so that if they vote in favor of it, they need not be surprised if they find people elected to office of whom they will feel thoroughly ashamed. The Sun has explained the workings of Plan B, showing that without primary elections only minority candidates will be chosen. Nobody will be elected by a majority vote. Where, for example, there will be half a dozen candidates for mayor, the least desirable of the lot may be elected, because the leaders will draw from one another to such an extent that the most popular men may fall behind. This is but one of the many defects in Plan B which, however, is right in principle and with the necessary amendments would make, in our judgment, a splendid charter. Every effort has been made to enlighten the citizens upon the provisions of this charter, its good and its bad points, so that they may not intelligently in passing upon the question at the polls tomorrow.

Double Platoon System

The other question of greatest local interest is that of adopting the double platoon system for the local freemen. Many of our citizens are opposed to this proposition on economic grounds. They believe that the freemen have been fairly well taken care of and that for the present with taxes so very high the city should take no step that would add to the expense of our fire department or increase the taxes.

On the other hand, there are many people who would favor the adoption of the double platoon system but for the fact that the freemen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. These people are opposed to freemen and policemen belonging to the American Federation of Labor. It may be that this affiliation will never result in having the freemen called out on a strike, but many will assume that while the freemen belong to the labor organization, they will continue to agitate for further concessions such as still shorter hours and higher wages.

There are many other citizens, however, who will vote for the double platoon system, simply because the freemen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, believing that freemen have a right to reasonable hours of labor to which they have long been denied. This class of voters believes that all crafts should have a reasonable time with their families and that the freemen should be no exception. Thus the citizens view the question in different aspects; but it remains for the majority of the voters to decide and the citizens will accept the decision with good grace whatever it may be.

100 ON TRIAL FOR RACE RIOTS

Negroes Accused of Intent to Commit Murder and Assault in Court at Helena

Trial Result of Disorders at Elaine Which Broke Out on Sept. 30

HELENA, Ark., Nov. 3.—The trial of more than 100 negroes charged with intent to commit murder and alleged participation in the recent race disturbances near Elaine, began in circuit court here today.

The Elaine disorders broke out the night of Sept. 30, when a posse sent by the sheriff to arrest a white man, stopped to repair their motor car near a country church where armed negroes were meeting secretly. Apparently believing members of the posse were eavesdropping, the negroes opened fire. One deputy was killed and another wounded. Firing then became general between the negroes and the posse.

Further fighting took place later and at Gov. Brough's request, 500 federal troops were sent to Elaine. The troops remained there a week and several fights with negroes occurred. Large quantities of arms and ammunition were seized by civil and military officials indicating the authorities said, that the negroes had planned an uprising.

OBSERVANCE HERE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Armistice day, Nov. 11, will be observed in Lowell in an appropriate manner, according to present indications, but there will be none of the city-wide bantany celebration that marked last year's spontaneous celebration to greet the announcement that the world war was at an end, as far as actual fighting was concerned.

When queried on the matter today, Mayor Perry D. Thompson said that it was not probable that there would be any extensive observance of the day by the city government owing to the fact that a number of organizations, notably the American Legion, had planned to stage suitable affairs in observance of the first anniversary of the war's virtual close.

The local branch of the legion will stage an "armistice ball" in Associate hall on Monday evening, Nov. 10, the "night before" the holiday, while the K. K. Associates will sponsor a dancing party at the Community Service club in Dutton street on Tuesday evening.

Supt. Hugh J. Malloy, of the school department said today that the local schools would observe the holiday on Monday, there being no session of schools, of course, on Tuesday, a legal holiday. The high school will have its observance in the high school building owing to the fact that Keith's theatre is not available Monday forenoon because of rehearsal.

It is probable that the churches will have services of a thanksgiving nature either on Tuesday or the preceding Sunday. The local theatres are planning special programs for the holiday, the dance halls will be in full swing and a number of football games are scheduled.

FORMER SHERIFF IS ARRESTED

Taken Into Custody on Charge of Murder of Maine Hotel Man

Arrested at Home—Walks With Crutches—Was Shot in Leg

SKOWHEGAN, Me., Nov. 3.—John A. Burke, the former deputy sheriff whom the county officials have been unable to eliminate in their investigation of the murder of Nelson W. Bartley, the Jackman hotel keeper, who disappeared on Oct. 15, was arrested at his home at Jackman today on the charge of murder.

Word of the arrest was received by Sheriff John A. Moores here today, together with the information that Burke was being brought here by automobile by Deputy Sheriff E. L. Gipson of the county.

OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF BARCELONA LOCKOUT

MADRID, Sunday, Nov. 2.—A more optimistic view of the lockout situation in Barcelona, is being taken by the authorities as the employers and workers have consented to form an arbitration committee. The government will continue its efforts to solve the difficulty and it is considered possible that in the course of this week, a definite solution will be reached.

Pressure has been brought to bear by prominent citizens in an endeavor to have the employers change their attitude.

EFFECT OF COAL STRIKE

Lowell Mills Have Good Supply on Hand—No Immediate Shortage Here

Although practically all Lowell mills and industries have a sufficient supply of soft coal on hand to allow the plants to maintain operations for at least two months in the face of the strike of miners in the bituminous fields, the local railroad service will be materially reduced if the strike continues for any length of time. In fact, a meeting of the managers of all the New England railroads has been called with a view of taking off a number of trains on each division and, although the curtailment will be more or less comprehensive, every effort will be made to discommode the traveling public as little as possible under the circumstances.

Lowell coal dealers are absolutely in accord in saying that there is no immediate cause for worry or undue excitement. They seem to agree that unless the strike exceeds three or four weeks in duration there will be no real shortage here, and they further are of the opinion that the strike will be over within three weeks at the latest.

Meantime the railroads are confiscating all soft coal standing in freight yards and in process of transportation and in the neighborhood of 50,000 tons are contained in cars at Western avenue and other yards here in Lowell. Until further orders are received throughout the Boston & Maine system the coal will remain where it is. Gas and electric light companies, hospitals and other public utilities have been excepted in the confiscation order.

P. R. Todd, district director for New England of the United States railroad administration today authorized the following public statement regarding the possible effect on the service of the New England railroads that may result from the strike:

"On account of the national crisis brought about by the strike of the bituminous coal miners the public will doubtless suffer much inconvenience and possible loss, but the question at issue is one of such vital importance to the life of the nation that every citizen should gladly bear his share of the trouble caused by it. Certainly the government has done everything in its power to avoid the strike.

"On account of the absolute necessity of conserving bituminous coal in every possible way in order to keep a reasonable amount of passenger and freight train service in effect, it will be necessary for the railroads throughout the entire country to greatly modify their train service, and this will be done immediately in New England proportionately as it is done in other sections of the country."

RATIFY OR TABLE TREATY

The Proposal in Unanimous Consent Agreement Is Drawn Up

Administration Leaders Plan to Present Agreement in Senate Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A final vote this week on ratification of the peace treaty is proposed in a unanimous consent agreement drawn up today by the administration leaders.

Apparently contemplating the possibility of a deadlock over reservations, the agreement provides that after this week, the treaty, if not ratified, can be laid aside.

LOWELL MERCHANTS' RETAIL ASSOCIATION

The Lowell Merchants' Retail association, a subordinate organization of the board of trade, met this morning in the assembly hall of the Y.M.C.A., presumably for the purpose of adopting by-laws, but inasmuch as only a few sections were acted upon, the general adoption was deferred until one week from Wednesday when the association will again meet.

It was voted by the merchants to close their places of business on Tuesday, Nov. 11, Armistice day, and inasmuch as the association is representative of all kinds of stores, the vote passed this morning will mean a general shutdown of the city's commercial activities on the new holiday.

PALMER REPLIES TO STRIKERS

Attorney General's Answer to Protest From Striking Coal Miners

Declares Combinations to Stop Production Cannot Be Tolerated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Atty. Gen. Palmer today informed coal miners who protested against the strike injunction that the government stood ready "to do everything in its power to facilitate an inquiry into the merits of the controversy but in the meantime the law must be enforced and combinations to stop production cannot be tolerated."

Mr. Palmer's statement, made in reply to a telegram from the union local at Glencoe, Ohio, to President Wilson, was taken to indicate that no attempt would be made by the government to settle the wage controversy until the strike was called off.

The king received the members of the mission, including General Cornille and the young students who fought in the war, and expressed appreciation for the school's work.

Queen Elizabeth spends much of her spare time learning the art of navigation. Prince Leopold finds diversion in boxing and exercising about the decks.

New Plan for Irish Settlement

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The British government will announce during the present week a new scheme of Irish government, according to strongly supported report in parliamentary circles today. Under the plan said to be in prospect there would be a grant of home rule Ireland, with power for counties to vote themselves out and form governing body for the areas which might thus be excluded from a general scheme. A supreme body, however, presided over by the lieutenant would have authority over both the other bodies.

Allied Warships Silence Red Batteries

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 3.—Reports that the Bolshevik batteries and around Kronstadt and Krasnaia Gorka, on the Gulf of Finland, had been silenced by a bombardment by allied warships lasting several days are contained in despatches to the National Tidende today from Rev. Heavy explosions are said to have occurred in both places and presumably being due to ammunition dumps blowing up.

Charge of Falsely Labelling Liquor

CROSS ROLL CALL CAMPAIGN

North Middlesex chapter of the American Red Cross, with headquarters in this city, tonight launches its third roll call campaign, with a dinner for team workers and allied committees at St. Anne's parish house. The opening meeting will be featured by the presence of Miss Edith M. Ambrose, a Red Cross overseas nurse, who had wonderful experiences in the war zone.

Pre-campaign propaganda has been freely distributed and the local committee leaders are optimistic as to the success of the drive in Lowell. Full organization, such as the fire department members, have pledged themselves to the cause, 100 per cent, strong, and it is the hope of the workers that the chapter rolls will contain even more names in times of peace than during the days of war.

"All you need is a heart and a dollar" was the clarion rally call of the Red Cross during the days of great emergency and now that the strife has passed the same call will go out, for the work of the Red Cross is not yet finished and will not be while there remain American soldiers and sailors in Europe and wounded and sick men in the hospitals of the United States. The need of money and of workers is real and although the roll call is not a money drive, money is needed if the work of rehabilitation and reconstruction is to go on in full power.

Great men of every nation have recently endorsed the coming campaign and urged its support. Strength for the Red Cross for the battles of peace at home, the eternal war on disease and distress, is the earnest desire of Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore.

Cardinal Gibbons' tribute to the achievements of the society and appeal for continued support of it follows:

"The American Red Cross has written a glorious and imperishable chapter in the history of our nation. In the war, now happily at an end, the Red Cross was to be found marching shoulder to shoulder with our triumphant army, and in every way aiding and encouraging the soldiers in their fight for humanity.

"A new chapter remains to be written, a chapter less dramatic perhaps because made in a time of peace, but none of the less glorious in its spirit and in its object. That chapter will have to do with America at home.

"Here at home, the Red Cross has pledged its thought, its influence and its own people, who by reason of circumstances, need just the help which only such an organization as the Red Cross can bring. The Red Cross is about to begin a work that has for its object the welfare of all within the limits of our great country.

"In order to do this work well the Red Cross counts upon the encouragement and support of every American citizen. It is my earnest hope, therefore, that all will join this magnificent organization."

Paul B. Chandler, chairman of the Lowell roll call committee, has gathered experienced campaign workers about him and is confident of local success. In speaking of the drive today, Mr. Chandler said:

"Half of every person's dollar stays right here in the local chapter and the other half goes right next door, one might say, for it is available for our use if we need it. The war is over, certainly, but the work of the Red Cross goes on forever, just as it did before the war. Not exactly the same as before the war, at that, for the Red Cross is undertaking a public health program that is tremendous in scope, and that will be of benefit to every person in this huge country of ours, to all our people of Lowell, as well as to the 400 soldiers' families that the local chapter, at just this minute, is looking out for in this Lowell of ours."

MATRIMONIAL

A wedding of uncommon beauty was solemnized at the First Presbyterian church Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, when Mr. William Henry Bennett of North Tewksbury and Miss Ethel Perrins Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Davis of Jewett street, were united in marriage by Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, pastor. Beautiful decorations of chrysanthemums, palms and autumn foliage formed a charming background for the bridal party, which included a maid of honor, four bridesmaids, two little flower girls, the best man and four ushers.

Just prior to the service, Miss Bessie Porter sang "O, Promise Me" and Miss Minnie Tucker, church organist, played the Lohengrin march as the bridal party entered the church. The maid of honor was Miss Bertha W. Barrie, a sister of the bride, while the bridesmaids were Mrs. George C. Linber, Mrs. Henry F. Fessenden, Miss Helen E. Barrie of Springfield and Miss Esther E. Bennett. The two flower girls were twin nieces of the bride, Evelyn and Eleanor Barrie of Springfield. The best man was Mr. Henry P. Fessenden, while the ushers were Messrs. Clyde D. Gray, Fred M. Cameron, Paul Hartford and Edwood Stewart of Springfield.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of duchess satin and Spanish lace with court train and veil caught with pearls. She carried roses. The gown of the maid of honor was of peach tinted satin with opalescent trimming. Two of the bridesmaids wore turquoise blue satin with gold lace trimming, while the other two wore gold lace and burnt orange georgette over cloth of gold. The flower girls wore dresses of green organdy and carried staffs and pink roses.

A reception was held at the bride's home in Jewett street immediately after the service and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The house also was attractively decorated with foliage and cut flowers. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace. The bride's gifts to her maid of honor and bridesmaids were amethyst pins, while the bridegroom presented his best man a scarf pin.

After an extended wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will be at home in North Tewksbury after the first of the new year.

Seamstress—Vaguer

A pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory when Mr. Hector N. Desmarais and Miss Marguerite Vaguer, the latter of New Brunswick, were united in matrimony. The ceremony was performed at 4.45 o'clock by Rev. Eugene Turcotte, O.M.I. The bride wore a blue travelling suit and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Mr. Michel Goudreau, while the groom's witness was his father, Mrs. Albert Desmarais. At the close of the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bridegroom, 140 Cumberland road and was followed by a brief reception. Mr. and Mrs. Desmarais, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts left in the evening on a honeymoon trip to Portland and Bangor, Me. and New Brunswick and upon their return next Saturday they will make their home at 30 Allen avenue.

Fisher—Aldrich

Mr. Austin Lowell Fisher and Miss Lillian Mabel Aldrich were married Saturday at 34 Rutland street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Asa Reed Dills. The bride wore blue velvet and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Mildred Edna Aldrich, who was attired in blue and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Robert Donald Fisher. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, 46 Smith st., and later the happy couple left on a wedding trip through the New Hampshire mountains. After Nov. 15 they will make their home in Chelmsford.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Ten young men pleaded guilty in police court today to being present at a game on the Lord's day and paid fines of $5 each. They were arrested early yesterday morning in a house on upper Westford street by Officers Wilm Moore, Clark and Cooney, who allege that the ten were engaged in "shooting craps."

The names given by defendants were George Malley, William Bradford, George Smith, Harry Stone, Harry Rollins, George Green, Frank Gil, Frank Warner, James Cassidy and Samuel Smith.

Found guilty of drunkenness, James P. Walsh drew down a suspended sentence to the state farm. Patrolman Aldrich, who arrested Walsh last night, testified that he had found him lying in a stupor across the railroad tracks running between Prince and Warthen streets, in danger of being killed by a passing shifting engine, should one pass along the tracks during the night.

Charged with neglect of his wife, Charles H. Grogan of Dracut pleaded not guilty and had his case continued until Thursday, bail being set at $300.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

An enjoyable Halloween party was held at the home of Kathleen and Eileen Balfrey, 65 Congress street, recently, in honor of a playmate of the young ladies, Rita Sallman, who is soon to move to New York. She was presented a gold rosary and cameo pin by her friends. Games were played and refreshments served.

Dr. Ada Morton-Lewis and her wrestler-husband, "The Strangler."

WIFE OF ED. ("STRANGLER") LEWIS
THRILLS AS HUBBY "STRANGLER"
LES' RIVALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The words "wedlock" and "headlock" are almost synonymous in the vocabulary of Ed. ("Strangler") Lewis, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship.

They both spell success!

As proof of it, the "Strangler's" wife—formerly Dr. Ada Morton of San Jose, Cal.—will probably be in her husband's corner at the next time the latter "goes to the mat" with a rival grappler; and will be cheering, undoubtedly, as Lewis applies the deadly "headlock" in an effort to pin his adversary's shoulders to the canvas.

Dr. Morton-Lewis, who continues to enjoy a lucrative medical practice in San Jose, is inordinately proud of her husband's prowess as a master of the Roman and catch-as-catch-can. His strength and agility, indeed, are responsible for the marriage, which occurred about a year ago.

"I get a wonderful thrill every time that my husband throws an opponent," said the "Strangler's" wife after his recent victory over Tom Ibraake. "I can describe this particular feeling. It is a sensation that I have yet to understand thoroughly."

"Bobby" has beaten every great wrestler in the world," she added. "Yes, I know that he has been beaten, but never decisively. My ambition is to see him crowned the undisputed champion of the universe, and I know that the time will not be long before this ambition is realized."

"I never interfere with his training because I know that his is the master mind when it comes to his own profession. He consults me about his matches and I will give him what advice I think will benefit him."

As to her husband's claim to the world's championship—that is a moot question. The other aspirants to the title—Stecher, Caddock, Zhyeko and Piestina—insist that the "headlock," which Lewis has perfected to an astounding degree, is a foul hold. Usually they refuse to meet him unless the "headlock" is barred.

But the wrestling authorities—at least, those who control the game in America—have ruled that the "headlock" is legitimate. Therefore Lewis claims the world's title by default.

"Bobby" can throw his opponents without using the headlock," explains the wrestler's wife. "But why should he deny the use of a hold that has been proclaimed legitimate? Stecher specializes on the body scissors, Zhyeko uses the toothhold—why shouldn't Bobby use the headlock?"

If Mrs. Lewis decides to "second" her husband in his next match, she will surely lend him her "psycho-energetic" support. She positively denies that she will either swing a towel or attempt to tell "Bobby" how to do his work. "No one can do that," she exclaims. "Bobby knows more than all the rest of them put together!"

4 PER CENT REFERENDUM
AGITATES OFFICIALS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 3.—Regardless of how far the referendum on 4 per cent beer comes out in the voting tomorrow, the legislature will be powerless to enact the law it asks for. The act of congress limiting the alcoholic content of beverages in the United States to one-half of one per cent has made such action by the legislature unlawful, if not unconstitutional.

The question now agitating the state officials is as to how the subject shall be handled, since it appears that there is no way to prevent the acceptance of a legislative bill providing for such a law should those who favor it submit one to the general court. Neither Speaker Warner nor Clerk Kimball, nor yet the president of the senate, has the authority to refuse to receive the petition.

It follows, it was stated today in the house clerk's office, that the bill must be received and presented to the membership and when it is the legislature will be face to face with the question of state's rights, which presumably was settled by the Civil war, but which actually never has been settled. For this reason the state authorities are viewing the referendum tomorrow with mingled feelings, most of them favoring a large vote in opposition to it as the best way out of the predicament.

Killing the referendum, however, will not prevent the filing of the bill itself, which already has been drafted and is in the hands of the gentlemen who engineered the whole thing.

There are three ways the affair can be handled after the bill has been placed in the legislature. The first is to greet it with a motion to refer it to the next legislature. Instead of assigning it to a committee. Once before that has been done when Channing Cox as floor leader of the house moved such disposition of a special message of Governor Foss. It is a strong armed method of handling a petition, however, and may be passed up in favor of less drastic action.

The next scheme is to have the attorney general submit an opinion to the legislature, as to the standing of such legislation should it become law. There is no question as to what the opinion would be, with congress already having decided the matter.

A third plan is to receive the bill and the petition and to refer both of them to a committee. That body could then report it "leave to withdraw" when it could be killed in the house. Under this plan, however, the measure would come before the house for debate and the state's rights issue would be raised, a question not favored by legislative leaders. The latter are in favor of the second plan, which is that the committee act upon the bill and that it then be submitted to the attorney general for his opinion.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Edward F. Woodward and Miss Mary A. Sagarine, both of this city, were united in marriage at the Grace Universalist church on Saturday evening by Rev. Herbert E. Benton, pastor. The service was performed at 8 o'clock. Pains and chrysanthemums, effectively arranged, formed an attractive decorative scheme, while the gowns of the bridal party blended beautifully to make a most charming scene. The bride was attended by Mrs. Eugene Whitacre as matron of honor and by the Misses Ruth Pilling, Leslie Pullen, Emily Wiggin, Evelyn Woodward and Hazel Hanchett of Lowell and May Bacon of Brookline as bridesmaids. The best man was Mr. Frederick G. Leary. The ushers were: Messrs. Butler Goodell, Chester Gray, Alden Sherman, Robert Potter, and William Odell of Lowell and Eugene Whitacre of St. Paul, Minn.

The bride's dress was of white georgette and she wore a veil caught up by orange blossoms and carried white sweet peas and orchids. The matron of honor wore a gown of golden tulle and carried single chrysanthemums of the same shade. The dresses of the bridesmaids were of varying shades of panne velvet, bluish green, lavender and pale blue. Each carried a crooked staff on which were tied clusters of chrysanthemums. As the bridal party entered and left the church the wedding music was played by Miss Edith M. Chase, organist.

After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward will live at 12 Cascade avenue.

REDS REPORT CAPTURE OF 1500 PRISONERS

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Russian soviet communiqué of Sunday, received today by wireless from Moscow, claims the capture of 1500 prisoners in the taking of Patropavlovsk, 106 miles west of Omsk, from the Kolchak forces.

The statement also reports fighting of the fiercest character in the Finnish gulf region and a continued advance by the Bolsheviks all along the line against the Russian northwestern army of Gen. Kudenitch. The occupation of many villages in the Luga-Gdov sector to the east of Lake Peipus, is claimed.

In the campaign against the Poles the Bolsheviks assert their forces have effected a crossing of the River Berezina, taking numbers of prisoners.

Gen. Denikine's current communiqué, received by wireless claims the capture of Boorov, southeast of Voronezh, towards the right flank of his line. He concedes the abandonment of Kromy, in the Orel region.

In the Archadinsky district, General Denikine's troops, he reports, surrounded a Bolshevik division and took numerous prisoners.

"WETS" AND "DRYS" CONFIDENT IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Spokesmen for both the wets and drys today made pre-election claims to victory at tomorrow's election at which a vote will be taken upon repeal of state-wide prohibition and other prohibition measures.

Voters will be asked to pass on three proposed constitutional amendments and two referendums. Two of the amendments and both referendums relate to prohibition and were initiated by the wets. The other amendment would provide for classification of property for taxation.

Much interest centers in the Ohio election as this is the only state voting upon state-wide prohibition this fall. To date Ohio is the biggest state having voted prohibition. The effort to repeal prohibition, adopted by the voters a year ago by a 25,000 majority comes after less than six months of the dry regime, as prohibition did not go in effect until May 27 of this year.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON ARRIVES AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 3.—Sir Thomas Lipton, again a challenger for America's cup, arrived here today on the steamer Carmania, bound for New York. The Irish yachtsman said his trip would be a short one. He wishes to inspect his challenging yacht, Shamrock IV, which has been set up in a crib in a New York yard since war conditions in 1914 prevented holding the race for that year. Sir Thomas said he would also "see how America's cup matters stand."

It is his intention to send over in the spring of 1920 a 23-metre "trial-horse" yacht to assist the Shamrock in tuning up preparatory to the cup races. He will return to the United States himself some time next spring.

The Carmania stopped here to coal on her trip from Liverpool to New York. Sir Thomas will continue his passage on the steamer.

CONTROL OVER SUGAR

Bill Proposing Continuation of Federal Control Reported to Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The bill proposing continuation of federal control over sugar during 1920, was reported today to the senate and placed on the calendar with a view to early action.

In a majority report, Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, author of the bill, and chairman of the senate agriculture sub-committee, which investigated the sugar shortage, declared "a serious situation will ensue" if the sugar equalization board's control over sugar is discontinued.

Minority views, presented by Senator Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, expressed agreement in the plan to continue the sugar board, with authority for its purchase of Cuban sugar, but opposed giving the board power to buy and sell domestic sugar as an unwarranted interference with natural economic laws and as likely to unduly depress prices of Louisiana and other domestic sugar.

Senator McNary's report suggested that present conditions were largely psychological, due to fears of future shortage.

Data in the hands of the committee, the report stated, showed that about 730,000 tons of Cuban and domestic sugar was available for distribution until Jan. 1, which should meet the needs of the country. The world shortage of sugar was estimated at two million tons over the pre-war average.

"The Cuban crop," the report stated, "if not controlled by this government working through the Sugar Equalization board, will supply a field for competition with the resultant effect of extraordinary high prices for raw sugars, with corresponding reflection of increased prices to the consumer."

Senator McNary said the committee believed the two-thirds of the Cuban crop remaining could be accepted reasonably, although at prices higher than if it last summer. In this connection the report detailed failure of President Wilson to approve recommendations of the board that the Cuban crop be purchased.

GENERAL ELECTION IN NEWFOUNDLAND

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 3.—Newfoundland's general election postponed from 1917 because of the war was held today. The results will not be known for several days on account of delays in gathering returns from distant coast districts.

The government party, led by Sir Michael Cashin, who has been prime minister since last May, was opposed at the polls by a new organization headed by R. A. Squires and embracing the Fishermen's Protective union.

Close contests were expected in many districts. Both the government and the opposition parties had full tickets in 18 constituencies and there were several independent candidates.

By observing cracks in layers of cement put down in certain districts of California a San Francisco says he can foretell the coming of earthquakes.

N. E. Coal Dealers' Association

DIRECTIONS FOR USING STEAM SIZE ANTHRACITE IN DOMESTIC HEATERS AND STOVES

"Small sizes with a little care, can be burned successfully in connection with the larger sizes of Anthracite. When banking the fire for the night spread a small amount of Pea or Buckwheat over the top of the fire, being careful to leave a thin bright spot at the side or back of the fuel bed. In mild weather some Pea or Buckwheat may be used during the day. A bed of ashes should be carried on the grate to prevent the fine coal from running through the ash pit. The amount of Pea or Buckwheat that can be successfully burned will depend upon the draft available and the care exercised in firing, but there should be little difficulty in using one shovelful of Small Coal to four of the coarser coal.

Where the draft is strong it may be possible to burn a much larger proportion of the small fuel.

How to Burn Pea or Buckwheat Coal in Furnace

Storage—Provide a place for this coal in your cellar, either a separate box or coal bin. Don't mix it with the larger size coal. Have a place for each size.

Day Mixture—Fire one shovelful to three or four of larger size.

Night Mixture—Use more small than large coal when banking fire at night. This coal will keep well and will not give out as much heat. Find by trial how much you need to keep fire all night. Find by trial how to set the draft to make the fire keep. Don't close furnace until the fire appears on top of the coal.

With a furnace of ample size and good draft small size coal can be burned alone with good results. Start the fire with wood and large size coal. New grates are not needed. Shake down ashes when fire is hot. Stop shaking ash when first live coal appear. Always leave some ash on the grate.

Small size coal will replace from 10 to 30 per cent. of the larger sizes.

It will pay you to try it.

SCHOOL PUPILS MUST KEEP OFF R. R. TRACKS
Superintendent of Schools, Mr. J. H. Molloy, of the school department has asked Frederick R. Woodward, acting headmaster of the high school, to notify the pupils of that school that walking on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad is unlawful. It is understood that a number of students have been in the custom of walking along the tracks near the school in taking short cuts to or from their homes. Mr. Molloy says in his letter that the high school pupils should set an example in this respect for other pupils. His letter to Mr. Woodward follows:
"Dear Mr. Woodward: Please notify the pupils of the high school that walking on or along the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad is trespassing on private property and is a violation of the law. Regardless of what other pupils may do in this respect, high school pupils should set a good example and obey the law.
Very truly yours,

Superintendent of Schools."

J. H. BOARDMAN BUYS TALBOT RESIDENCE

The Julian Talbot house at Nesmith and Chestnut streets, assessed at a value of approximately $12,000, Saturday afternoon was sold at auction and bid in by J. Harry Boardman of the Old Lowell National bank for $9000.
A box containing jewels of the old Talbot family was found by George Nash when preparations were being made for the removal of household goods and although their sentimental value is considerable, it is said that their actual worth is not great. They evidently had been mislaid among a lot of other personal effects.
A fair sized crowd attended the sale, but the bidding was spasmodic and light. The house is extremely large containing 17 rooms of old high posted style. Its interior finish is exceptionally fine, however, much of the woodwork being mahogany and quartered oak. Prior to the sale, it was believed that one or two local societies or clubs would make an attempt to purchase the property, which seemed admirable for such a purpose.

THREE MORE LOWELL SAILORS PROMOTED

Proof positive that Lowell's young men who are enlisting in Uncle Sam's fighting fleets have the right stuff in them is found in a communication received by Chief Cary of the local naval recruiting station today, stating that three more boys from the Spindle City have been promoted to a higher rank.
Raymond J. Belanger, 73 Church street, who enlisted as seaman, second class last June, has been promoted to fireman, second class. He is now stationed at the naval training station at Newport, R. I.
Arthur R. Pelletier, 531 Merrimack street, is now rated as seaman, second class. Pelletier enlisted as apprentice seaman on the U.S.S. Taylor last June.
Arthur J. Higgins, 41 Prospect street, was recently promoted to the rating of water tender on board the U.S.S. Leviathan. He enlisted during the summer of 1918 as fireman, first class.

MONEY FLOWS INTO TREASURER'S OFFICE

The treasurer's office of the city of Lowell has been enriched to the extent of $1,972,130.93 by local taxpayers since the first of the 1919 tax bills were sent out. This amount has been received by the city in payment of this year's taxes in addition to a large amount paid on taxes levied in previous years.
However, the city has not yet received all that is coming to it. The total 1919 levy which must be paid by the public before the city treasurer can clean up his books is $2,867,076.71. This means that there is still $884,945.78 due to be paid on this year's taxes.
Although the notice on the tax bills says that interest will be charged on these bills which are not paid October 15, this year, however, people who managed to get in before the first of November were allowed to get away free of interest charges. Beginning today interest will be collected from each person who has as yet failed to pay his 1919 taxes.

CHANGES IN PARCEL POST SHIPMENTS

There have been some changes made in the parcel post regulations relative to the sending of goods to Germany, according to Postmaster Meehan of Lowell postoffice. Among the articles which now cannot be sent there are butter, meat, bacon, flour, ginger, pineapple, vanilla, lobster and oysters. Up to a limit of 11 pounds the following foodstuffs may be sent: Margarine, fats (lard), biscuits, crackers, macaroni, coffee, tea, cocoa, chocolate and sweetmeats generally.
Parcel post business at the local office is increasing by leaps and bounds, the postmaster states. Fully twice the amount of business of a year ago is now being handled here, and each week the increase becomes more marked.

SPEAKS FOR LONG AT B. & M. CARSHOPS

William A. Walsh of Lowell addressed an enthusiastic assemblage at the Boston and Maine carshops, Rutherford, this noon, in behalf of Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor and the other democratic candidates. Over 1000 workers listened attentively to the speaker and he was vigorously applauded when he concluded. Mr. Walsh said the election tomorrow was one of the most important ever held in the commonwealth. He said that the issues had been clearly presented and that all were familiar with the attitude of both candidates. He told of the many humanitarian measures Long had inaugurated in his factories, how Long had always been the friend of the working man. He declared that the republican stand for "law and order" was a political trick, and that Long and all other democrats always stood for law and order and always would stand by the laws of the state. He also spoke of Long's plan for giving the former service men a

Shortage of Salt in France
PARIS, Nov. 3.—Salt has been added to the list of commodities lacking in France. For a fortnight, it has been impossible to purchase salt in many of the Paris shops. Lack of transportation facilities is declared to be the chief cause of the shortage.

Germans Dismantle Fortress at Istein

GENEVA, Nov. 3.—The Germans have started dismantling the fortress at Istein, on the Rhine north of Basle. The work is being conducted under the supervision of allied officers. The fortress was equipped with long range guns commanding both the German and Swiss shores of the Rhine for long distance.

Switzerland to Discuss League

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 3.—On November 10 Switzerland will take up in legislative assembly the subject of her entry into the League of Nations. It was decided to submit it to the present parliament, rather than hold it over for consideration by the new legislative body elected in October as action with regard to the league is deemed urgent.

Promised Coal, Steel Strikers Return

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Officials of the United States Steel Corporation at Gary, Ind., claimed many men who have been on strike for six weeks would return to work today because of a promise to supply them with coal for personal use at cost. Owing to the strike of soft coal miners' stocks in commercial yards of that city have already diminished, while the steel corporation has a large supply.

Republicans AND Car Riders

I have always been an active Republican except when I followed Theodore Roosevelt. Many years I stumped this state for the Republicans. I know Richard H. Long—he is a business man—a fighter. Thirteen years of my life were spent in the operation of street railways. Richard H. Long's stand on the taking over of street railways with a five-cent unit of fare appeals to me. Voters should not be fooled by this "law and order" talk. Remember—that issue is being raised to make you forget Mr. Long's progressive and businesslike program for Massachusetts. The speeches of imported, misinformed Republican Governors, United States Senators and Congressmen have done more to stir up class feeling in Massachusetts than anything I have heard or read.
Richard H. Long is a tried friend of the soldiers and the workman. He will insist upon a bonus of a year's pay, $360, for every service man. Less than the large incomes of Massachusetts for one month will suffice to pay it.
He favors liberal wages and salaries for workmen and women, particularly state, city and town employees who are now underpaid. There would have been no police strike if the men had been given living wages and decent treatment.
Richard H. Long has always been liberal, broad-minded. His gifts of public parks, the use of his estate by the soldiers when he was not in politics, his gifts to churches of all denominations and to returning soldiers, show his humane make-up and kindly interest in the comfort and welfare of others.
The election of Richard H. Long will be a triumph for progress and the working people of Massachusetts.
MANHAM E. NASH, Summer Lane, Framingham.

MASSACHUSETTS VOTERS

Will on Tuesday answer the affront of the Republican party in importing foreign Governors to insult the intelligence of Massachusetts citizens by interfering in their domestic affairs.

The small business man, the farmer—every working man and woman and all their friends—factory workers, clerks—city and town and state employees—will have a real friend in

RICHARD H. LONG AS GOVERNOR

Monopoly and capital are opposed to Richard H. Long for Governor. Workingmen are not deceived by the false attacks on their candidate.

Richard H. Long will be fair to capital—liberal to the workers—and bring happiness and contentment to Massachusetts.

ENDICOTT APPEALS FOR SUPPORT OF COOLIDGE

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Henry B. Endicott, addressing his remarks to all the citizens of Lynn and the shoe workers in particular, last evening, said:

"When your city was suffering from the most disastrous labor trouble in its history, I was asked to come to Lynn to do what I could to save the city from the gradual decay with which it was threatened. For five long, weary months many thousand shoe workers had an empty envelope. You all know the story. Both the employer and the employee expressed the belief in my business judgment, and at a meeting held at the mayor's office between the representatives of the unions and the representatives of the employers an arrangement was entered into and the factories were immediately opened and have run almost continuously ever since."

"In my judgment, the future of Lynn as a shoe centre depended upon the decision made at that meeting. In my decision, finally rendered, there were bound to be many disappointments, but I found the shoe workers of Lynn and their leaders were a wonderful people. The loyalty with which they accepted my decision proved to me that they were workers who would put Lynn upon the map again and keep it there, and they have done it and today Lynn stands high in the women's shoe industry of the world, and their loyalty has been repaid, as I knew it would be, by voluntary increases in wages granted since my decision was made."

"At the time my decision was rendered I received many letters of thanks from the citizens of Lynn, but the letters that touched me most deeply were those from the shoe workers themselves. Some of them said frankly that they were disappointed, at the same time expressing their absolute belief in my sense of justice and my business integrity."

"Now, I am recalling these circumstances because, as you are all aware, I have never asked a favor from a single citizen of Lynn, nor do I ask one now for my own sake; and even now the only favor I ask is that all the citizens of Lynn who believed in me when they were in trouble believe in me now."

"I feel dead certain that the business of Lynn and of every other city and town in the commonwealth will be seriously affected if Gov. Coolidge is not re-elected by a handsome majority in the coming election of next Tuesday. I am a democrat, but I put the interests of my state ahead of any party line, and I myself shall vote for Coolidge."

LONG ADDRESSES THE HENDRICKS CLUB

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—"The Old Guard may die, but it never surrenders; tomorrow is another day."

With that parting warning, Martin M. Lomasney, democratic leader in ward 5, brought one of the most enthusiastic and significant meetings of the Hendricks club held in recent years to a close late yesterday afternoon.

Ex-Congressman and ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, recently unseated in congress, and Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, and the candidates for the local offices on the state ticket, had preceded the picturesque leader and the crowd was eager to hear from their leader himself.

True to his reputation, Martin did not mince words; he touched on many subjects, eulogized the lamented Benjamin F. Butler and likened the famous democrat of the past to Mr. Long of today, and finally, as was expected, discussed the recent contest in congress, whereby Mr. Fitzgerald was unseated and Congressman Tague declared elected.

Mr. Lomasney scored Gov. Coolidge and the republican party as instruments of the interests, and declared that this contest was a fight between capital and labor, and urged every voter to come out Tuesday and vote the straight democratic ticket.

"Richard H. Long, who fought his way alone in the world, as did I, has every dollar to his name invested in Massachusetts industry. Do you think he is a safe man for governor? I do," he concluded.

Long Well Received
Candidate Long was well received. He, too, declared that next Tuesday's election was a contest between organized wealth and the workingman. "My opponents believe as a manufacturer I should be on the side of organized capital, but I am not."

He referred to the police strike, and declared that Judge Gary, Morgan and the Massachusetts capitalists opposed to him desired to make Boston the battle ground for the war between capital and labor.

LONG AND COOLIDGE BOTH CLAIM VICTORY

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The police strike in Boston, made a political issue, has aroused unusual interest in the state election to be held Tuesday. At convention time there was considerable discussion of a League of Nations, but the subject rarely was mentioned on the stump. Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, early in a vigorous campaign declared that if he were elected his position would be that the striking policemen should be reinstated. Several former policemen have toured the state, appealing particularly to workmen. Long has asserted that the Coolidge campaign was of the kind that if successful would lead to industrial slavery for all working men and women, whether engaged in public employment or private industry.

Governor Coolidge who at the time branded the striking policemen as deserters and unworthy to be again entrusted with the preservation of law and order, has reiterated that if re-elected he will stand where he stood when the men quit their posts. The republicans have claimed that the issue was national, in that the police strike was the symptom of radicalism that, unchecked, would destroy all government. On this theory republican speakers from far and near were brought into the state. They included former-President Taft, Senator Pollock of Washington, Senator Lodge and Govs. Allen of Kansas, Bartlett of New Hampshire, Sprout of Pennsylvania and Miliken of Maine.

Long was the democratic candidate a year ago and was defeated by Coolidge, whose plurality in the state was 17,035. His majority was 7350. Long led Coolidge in Boston by a few votes less than 20,000. Only the republicans and democrats appeared in the primaries this fall, the other parties having failed in 1918 to cast the 3 per cent. of the total vote required to get them on the primary ballot. However, the prohibitionist, socialist and socialist-labor parties nominated state officers through nomination papers.

Charles S. Baxter, who directed the speaking drive of flying squadrons throughout the state in behalf of the republican candidates, said last night that "it would not be surprising if Governor Coolidge were victorious by 50,000 votes." The election of Richard

C. L. U. Against Coolidge
BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The Boston Central Labor union yesterday adopted resolutions calling upon organized labor and its friends, irrespective of party affiliations, to cast their ballots for Governor Coolidge's "strongest opponent" to the end that "we may remove this menace to the public safety and vindicate the justice of our cause."

The resolutions charged the governor with allowing the police commissioner "to force upon the police a situation whereby it was necessary to go on strike" and "by his lack of good judgment and tact" with allowing a situation to be created "whereby murder, robbery and other crimes have been committed on the streets of Boston" and with having caused "by his acts and speech a spirit of antagonism and hatred against organized labor which is contrary to the ethics of an officer of the state."

To make a long story short John, being, as aforesaid, a fast traveller, found the "jakey." Shortly afterwards a Lowell policeman found John, rather the worse for wear, and booked him at police headquarters for drunkenness.

In police court this morning John blithely agreed that he had been drunk. Court asked John casually how long he figured it would take him to get out of town.

"Oh, about five minutes, I guess," replied John.

"I'll give you half an hour," came back the court, and it was so ordered. Clerk Trull informing John there was a six months' jail sentence awaiting him if he failed to make the boundary line under the time limit.

News of the Churches

The Feast of All Souls, a day of devotion set apart in remembrance of the dead, was observed in all the local Catholic churches today with masses in the morning offered up for the repose of the souls of those departed.

Next Friday will be the first Friday of the month and will be appropriately observed with masses in the morning and holy hour devotion in the evening. Confessions will be heard Thursday afternoon and evening.

At all the masses yesterday the preachers appealed for support of the Red Cross in its membership drive which began today.

St. Patrick's

Rev. Joseph A. Curtin sang the high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and Rev. Dr. Supple delivered the sermon. There were many communicants at the early masses. Today the usual masses in observance of All Souls day were celebrated, the 9 o'clock mass being solemn high.

Immaculate Conception

Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor, celebrated the 8 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday and members of the Y.M.C.A. and Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body. Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., assisted in giving communion. Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., celebrated the high mass and Rev. W. E. Conroy delivered the sermon. Vesper services in memory of the dead were held last evening.

Sacred Heart

Members of the Holy Rosary sodality of the Sacred Heart church received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday. Rev. William Mahan, O.M.I., was the celebrant and Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., the pastor, assisted in giving communion. Rev. John H. Doherty, O.M.I., sang the high mass and the pastor preached the sermon. Services for the dead were held last evening.

St. Peter's

Rev. Francis L. Shea celebrated the late mass at St. Peter's church yesterday and the pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Kelleher, Ph.D., delivered the sermon. At the 7:30 o'clock mass members of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion. Rev. Peter Linehan was the celebrant and the pastor assisted in giving communion.

St. Michael's

At the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church yesterday members of the Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body. The mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, and Rev. James F. Lynch assisted in giving communion. Rev. Thomas J. Heagney celebrated the late mass and Rev. Francis J. Mullin was the preacher.

St. Margaret's

Rev. Charles J. Calligan, the pastor, celebrated the high mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday. Members of the women's sodality received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass, of which Rev. Stephen J. Murray was the celebrant. The novena which started in this parish a week ago will be brought to a close at 7:30 this evening.

St. Columba's

Rev. Francis McNeill celebrated the high mass at St. Columba's church yesterday and Rev. Patrick J. Hally, the pastor, officiated at the early masses. Members of the Women's sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. A representative of the Home for Destitute Catholic children was present at the late mass with eight children and all of them were given homes by members of the parish.

St. Joseph's Parish

Members of Notre Dame de Lourdes sodality received communion in a body at the early mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday. Rev. Aurelien Mercl, O.M.I., celebrated the parish mass and Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I., was the preacher. At St. Jean Baptiste church Rev. Antoine Amyot, O.M.I., celebrated the late mass and Rev. Eugene Turgeon, O.M.I., the pastor, preached the sermon.

Noire Dame de Lourdes

Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., celebrated the early mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes church yesterday at which members of Notre Dame de Lourdes sodality received communion. Rev. J. B. A. Barrette, O.M.I., preached at all the masses. Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., the pastor, celebrated the parish mass.

St. Louis

Beginning next Sunday there will be five masses every Sunday at St. Louis' church instead of four as at present. Masses will be at 6:30, 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock. Rev. J. B. Labossiere, the pastor, spoke at all the masses yesterday in behalf of the campaign for funds for a new rectory now going on in this parish.

The House of Quinby

BEHIND every great enterprise will be found an ideal, and behind this ideal an institution worthy of the achievement it represents.

The House of Quinby has been built upon a determination to give every customer a perfect coffee and to sell it at a price which should ever protect its quality.

The tremendous growth in public favor of La Touraine Coffee is indeed a tribute to La Touraine excellence, to its unvarying goodness, to the national love for this healthful and refreshing beverage.

For years La Touraine Coffee has steadily educated all who use it to the fact that the difference in price—one way or another—of a few cents per pound is an insignificant item compared to the satisfaction of a cup of perfect coffee.

The famous La Touraine formula by which are selected, blended and roasted coffee beans grown upon certain estates noted for the high grade of their crops is the lasting foundation of the House of Quinby, and the reason why—once La Touraine Coffee visits the family table—it becomes the family coffee.

GETS HIS LICENSE BACK

Joseph Jean Held Blameless for Accident—Other Licenses Revoked

(Special to The Sun.)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, November 3.—Joseph A. Jean of Lowell has received from the Massachusetts highway commission a clean bill of health in respect to the automobile accident in which he was involved September 16, and which resulted in the death of Theodore Stamatoopolous of Lowell. After a thorough investigation of all the circumstances attending the accident, the commission has decided that it occurred without fault on the part of the operator, and Jean's license, which was suspended immediately after the accident, has been reinstated and returned to him.

The commission has reached the opposite conclusion, however, in relation to the accident of August 14, which resulted in the death of Lillian Allard, and in which Henry W. Allard was the operator of the fatal car. The announcement of the commission is that it is unable to find that the accident occurred without serious fault on the part of the operator, and consequently his license has been revoked.

Another license revoked by the commission is that of George W. Ellison, Jr. Action was taken against him because the commission learned that on October 20 he was convicted in the Boston municipal court on a charge of operating an automobile in such a manner that the lives and safety of the public might be endangered, and a fine of $150.

Alvah H. Nickles has lost his license for a period of at least one year as a result of being convicted in the Lowell court October 4 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The chauffeur's license of Charles Bond of Boston has been suspended, the commission, pending an investigation of the accident in which he was involved October 13, and which resulted in the death of Frank Zanon.

GOMPERS AND THE MINERS

It is rather unfortunate that President Gompers of the A. F. of L. comes out squarely in opposition to the stand taken by the government in relation to the miners' strike. He argues that the miners are fully justified in their course, which if true would make it appear that the government is not justified in interfering on behalf of the public—the people of the entire nation threatened with a fuel famine that would cripple all industry.

Mr. Gompers need not feel at all alarmed over the action taken by the government. It is made necessary by the dangerous possibilities of a strike declared at the opening of the winter and liable to continue for months if the miners were allowed to have their way. There is no attempt whatever to deprive the miners of their legal rights. Just at present the law that was in force during the war for the protection of the people is applicable to the situation brought about by the miners' strike and it is very properly invoked. After the formal declaration of peace, this law will lapse but may be extended by congress if considered necessary to suppress dangerous industrial outbreaks.

Ultimately, however, no such law will be enforced and there will be no attempt either now or at any other time to violate any constitutional right of the miners or any other class of toilers.

Labor leaders must remember, however, that the public interest is paramount and that when a labor strike threatens grave consequences to the people as in the present instance at least, it is the duty of the government to intervene, either to bring about a settlement or to prevent violations of law.

One of the reforms much needed and likely to come in the near future is the prohibition of labor strikes in all public utilities and the establishment of a proper tribunal with power to settle all disputes likely to affect the continuity of such service.

The fact that radicals of the worst kind have been operating through labor unions, makes it imperative upon the government to exercise extreme vigilance, lest any revolutionary movement should gain headway under the guise of a labor strike, sanctioned by leaders of the American Federation of Labor.

Apparently Mr. Gompers vouches for the honesty of the miners' claims to higher wages and other concessions. It is to be hoped that he is not mistaken in the character of the men he thus defends. But, whether he is or not, the interference of the government will not injure the miners, but rather help them. There is little doubt that the government while sending troops to the mines, has also appealed to the mine owners for concessions that may lead to a settlement of the trouble without any of the alarming conditions that usually follow a strike of this kind. Such a termination of the strike would be a great source of satisfaction to the public everywhere and might avert what would otherwise prove to be a desperate struggle, entailing great suffering to thousands of people and perhaps, also, the loss of a number of lives.

The government proceeds against the strike as a conspiracy against the public and also in defiance of the government. It is the duty of the government not only to protect itself but also to protect the public from an attempt to cut off the fuel supply which is essential to life and industry. Every labor leader who defends the action of the miners, and ignores the interests of the public becomes equally amenable to the penalties of the law under which the strike is branded and condemned as a conspiracy.

DAY OF RATIFICATION

At last the United States senate agrees to a final test on the peace treaty. The opposition of the reconcilables will probably come to naught. The treaty will be ratified and the United States will enter the League of Nations to join the other great powers in restoring peace to the world.

After six months of wrangling and political bushwhacking by republican senators, it is now agreed that a final vote may be taken on the 12th instant. It would be too high a price to pay for the friends of the treaty and especially for President Wilson if ratification came on

Nov. 11, the anniversary of the declaration of the armistice and a legal holiday in Massachusetts and some other states.

But if the treaty be ratified the following day, the celebration of the holiday may be prolonged among the people who really believe that the treaty is the best arrangement that can now be made not only for the rest of the world, for the nations large and small, but also for the United States.

Should we cut aloof from the other nations now after having taken such a leading part in the reorganization of the world, the result would be calculated to renew confusion and disorder in many countries and seriously to react upon our own country in lessened trade and a loss of respect and good will among the leaders of civilization.

There is no reason why the nations should not unite in a pact for the preservation of world peace, having the function of the Hague tribunal with the great fault of that tribunal—the lack of power to enforce its decrees—eliminated. The time has arrived when nations as well as men must be held amenable to law for their misdeeds and when small nations must be protected against the rapacity of the powerful, with the result that even without war much that is oppressive will be overcome merely by remonstrance and the fierce light of publicity throughout the civilized world.

But the merits and demerits of the treaty have been discussed at great length and there is now a very general demand heard throughout the country—it is "Let's Have It!"

THE CHARTER QUESTION

The Sun on Friday published an analysis of Plan B charter, issued by the Board of Trade and the result of careful study by a special committee. After looking it over, any person at all familiar with charters can see that it has many defects over and above that of not providing for primaries.

Without the primary sifting process the officials chosen will in nearly all cases represent the choice of a minority of the voters. That is not a healthy method of choosing public officials. On the other hand, as will be noted in the synopsis referred to, Plan B has not so much restriction upon the methods of spending money as are provided under the present charter.

It should be remembered that Plan B which will be voted upon tomorrow is not the Corbett charter or Plan B with amendments awaiting the attention of the General Court next year. It is the original skeleton, which is nowhere favored without amendment.

The subject has been very fully discussed during the past few months, so that anybody who has given any attention to the matter will be able to decide intelligently as between the present charter and Plan B.

NOW FOR THE VOTING

Everybody has heard from everybody else on the issues of the election and now it is up to the voters themselves. Seldom have the citizens of Lowell been appealed to more earnestly for support in behalf of political candidates whose cause has been strongly pleaded by their friends and fiercely assailed by their enemies. The intelligent citizen has listened and drawn his own conclusions; and he has already made up his mind as to how he will vote. Further argument, therefore, is useless. The great question is now to have every legal voter get to the polls and register his choice of candidates, and exercise his best judgment upon the referendum questions on the ballot.

Several of these are of considerable importance and should not be passed over lightly. In this class are Charter Plan B and the double platoon system for firemen. In each particular case, stand firmly for what you believe will best serve the interests of city, state and nation.

TEARING UP STREETS

It is to be regretted that the local street railway company finds it necessary to break up the block paving in some of our best streets. We presume that this is never done except when it is unavoidable, but there would be little cause for complaint if the company in such instances left the paving in as good condition as before. Unfortunately, none of the public service companies does this. When a street is torn up to repair a track, remove or transfer an electric light pole, the companies are not particular as to the condition in which they leave the street or sidewalk after they suppose they have finished the work. In hundreds of places throughout the city, the wire companies break concrete sidewalks and leave a considerable space around the poles, filled only with rough stones or gravel. This is not as it should be and is not justice to the city or to the public and should be stopped.

GAMBLING

It is astonishing how prevalent is the gambling craze among young people, the crap game being the most commonly used, in public parks, vacant lots, sidewalks and alleys.

Where did the boys learn it might be asked, but there are so many such games in progress that it would be difficult for any boy to avoid learning it. First it may be practised for mere amusement, then for gain; from this an advance will be made to other games, and thus the gambler starts. Many of those who begin in this way wind up in disgrace as professional gamblers so wedded to the game that they cannot abandon it. Despite the efforts of the police to stop it here in Lowell, it still goes on in perhaps 1000 places every day and every night.

The Middlesex county teachers at the convention on Friday discussed means of securing higher salaries, but although it had been stated that the American Federation of Labor had proved its great power in this respect, yet there was no sentiment in favor of joining that organization. The association, however, did vote to join the state federation of teachers, which should be able to wield considerable influence with the powers that be, if it only federates in the usual way.

Despite President Wilson's illness there was no dallying over the miners' strike. Steps were taken to deal with it from the first moment of its existence and that too under the processes of law. Alertness in meeting such a situation makes all the difference between success and failure.

Lenine says the chief trump in the hands of Russian Bolsheviks is international revolution without which the cause in Russia must fail. Thus we can more readily understand the zeal with which the advocates of soviet government are spreading their propaganda in this country.

The king and queen of Belgium made a good impression here wherever they appeared, owing to their democratic ways, so different from our idea of royalty, but there is as much difference in the crowned heads as among any other class of individuals.

A correspondent writes to ask "What will be the substitute for the saloon, the poor man's club?" We do not know that there will be any substitute inasmuch as the people who frequented the saloon must have that or nothing. They will accept no substitute.

Those dazzling auto lights should be dimmed at night. Apparently some of those who use them do not know what a glare they cast in the eyes of those approaching. It would be well for the police to notify them.

The Mexicans are pulling up the ransom demanded for the release of our consular agents. With $150,000 for Jenkins, we may expect $200,000 for the next who is kidnapped.

The hint by President Gompers of the possibility of a sympathetic strike may never go any farther; but such a strike in aid of the miners would be tantamount to war on the government of the United States.

It is gratifying to find that even in case of dealing with the menacing coal strike, congress lines up with President Wilson. Congress might well take action that would prevent such a situation in the future.

Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

The hint by President Gompers of the possibility of a sympathetic strike may never go any farther; but such a strike in aid of the miners would be tantamount to war on the government of the United States.

It is gratifying to find that even in case of dealing with the menacing coal strike, congress lines up with President Wilson. Congress might well take action that would prevent such a situation in the future.

Perils of Modern Business

"Better not keep that man waiting any longer."

Pretty Long Winded

"Talk about long playing," said the Yankee to Pat, "why, your countrymen wouldn't get a look-in with us. I know a fellow citizen who played 'Beautiful Stars and Stripes' on the piano for several hours."

Nothing in Him

The company had not long risen from dinner and the guests were taking a quiet afternoon stroll. Two old fellows were discussing the degeneracy of the times. One was a plain-spoken old farmer, who was very apt to take things literally, and the other a retired merchant.

I tell you what it is, the young fellows of the present day have not got either the mental or physical stamina that they should have. There was that young fellow who sat opposite you today; I'm sure he's got nothing in him."

Nothing in him? By Jove, you surely didn't see him eat! Why, he'd three helpings of roast beef, two of fowl, one of each of the four puddings, and I don't know what besides. If he's got nothing in him it's not his fault!"

China Discovers America

Truly representative American news is being distributed in China for the first time in the history of the country. Heretofore the only American European news received in China was distributed by Reuters or by the German agency Ostasiatische Lloyd or by the Japanese Agency Kokusai.

In spite of the fact that American news has been made available, the news printed in the far east has been largely limited to reports of crime and corruption. During the early months of the war the committee on public information established an American news agency which, though the Chinese people have been led to misunderstand us, leaped into instant popularity. After the armistice, when government funds were no longer available, American business men founded a corporation to maintain the American news agency with private capital. This organization intends to carry out advertising campaigns, to translate and publish American books, collect crop reports and to distribute American seeds to Chinese farmers.—The Nation's Business for November.

CONCORD HIGH TOO FAST

Lowell Eleven Scores Once
But Visitors Have More
Dash and Win, 12 to 6

The Lowell high school football eleven made its first touchdown of the season at Spalding park Saturday afternoon, but it was not sufficient to win from the team sent here from Concord Mass. high and Cooley Con-way's light aggregation finished on the small end of a 12 to 6 score.

Lack of cohesion, a sorry inability to offer protection to the back carry, the ball and a hesitancy in putting opposing men out of plays were the most conspicuous faults in the brand of ball displayed by the local team. On one occasion the forward line did rise in its might and take the ball on downs in the very shadow of its goal posts and in several instances the team showed capabilities of a running attack outside the danger zones, but once the ball was advanced within scoring distance, the offense frittered away, or a fumble marred the forward march.

As to weight the eleven were fairly evenly matched, but Concord showed more fight, more football sense and more earnestness in its play. In light of this fact Joe Mullaney, the visitors' quarterback, was up to the mark in his quarter-back brother John hurried a mean forward pass, covering in light almost as much distance as an ordinary punt.

Concord scored once in the first period and again in the third, while Lowell's touchdown came late in the fourth quarter with about four minutes of play remaining.

Concord Scores First

Concord kicked off to start the game. It was a poor kick and a Lowell lineman picked it up and carried it to midfield before being stopped. Lowell's attack opened auspiciously and two first downs were registered before O'Hare found it necessary to kick. On the very first play by Concord, John Mullaney wheeled around Lowell's right end for 35 yards. It was a well executed dash and caught the Lowell lineman and secondary defense sound asleep. Lowell braced a bit on its own 16-yard mark and took the ball on downs. An exchange of punts followed, with Lowell finally getting the ball in the center of the field. O'Hare attempted a forward pass, but Joe Mullaney intercepted it and dashed 35 yards before being forced outside on the 15 yard line. A neat forward pass, Mullaney to Christofferson scored Concord's first touchdown. The receiver took the ball while standing within the scoring zone back of the goal posts. The goal was missed. The ball see-sawed back and forth in the second period and the half ended with the score standing 6 to 0 in Concord's favor.

Third Period

The Concord over-head game again was instrumental in its second score which came early in the third period. Following the kickoff Mullaney shot a 35-yard pass which Christofferson again pulled before and galloped 35 yards more being dragged to earth from behind. Three drives through the Lowell line took the ball to the 23-yard line, but here the local eleven came to life and three times held the Concord backs without gain. Lowell immediately kicked, but down came the ball again into dangerous territory when Jack Mullaney ran back the boot to the 20-yard line and then gave the ball to Brother Joe for a sweep around right end to the five-yard mark. On his third attempt, Hemenway drove across the line for Concord's second score. Again the goal was missed. Score: Concord 12, Lowell 0.

Following the Concord kickoff, O'Hare opened up a running attack that carried the local eleven to five successive first downs and brought the ball to Concord's 15 yard line. Five yards were lost on the next play for offside work and a grounded forward pass on the fourth down gave Concord the ball. An exchange of kicks occurred just before the quarter ended.

First Touchdown of Year

Lowell plays carried the ball from the 13 to the 3-yard line, where O'Hare fumbled and Concord took the ball. O'Hare ran back the punt to the 20-yard line and from that point drove his team to the first touchdown of the year. Liston took the ball over from the 3-yard mark. The attempt at goal went wide. Score—Concord 12, Lowell 0.

Lowell kicked off, but the final whistle blew after two Concord rushes.

TWO 12-ROUND BOUTS ON THIS WEEK'S CARD

As Abe Friedman who was scheduled to meet Roy Moore here on Thursday night, saw fit to take on two other bouts this week before appearing here the matchmaker of the Crescent A.A. decided to cancel his local bout. It was felt that regardless of the outcome of the matches Friedman would be in poor shape to tackle a man of Moore's ability, hence the postponement of this number.

A new card, one that should furnish abundant action and much classy boxing has been arranged for Thursday night. Jimmy Duffy, who boxed Barney Adair a whirlwind 12 round bout here a short time ago will meet Al Ketchell of Bridgeport in one 12 round number. Ketchell met Billy Duffy of Everett here last week and put up a fine battle. In taking on Jimmy Duffy, Ketchell will meet a wonderful boxer and in-fighter. In the second 12 rounder, Henry McCoy of Baltimore, another favorite here, will tackle Dutch Bryant of New York. This mill should prove a hummer as both boys are noted for their aggressiveness and willingness to mix at all times. Girard Gianni of Lawrence and Frank Molins of Lowell, who met once before in Lawrence and fought a sensational draw will appear in an eight round number. In addition to the two 12-round events and the eight round bout there will be a six round preliminary.

Dartmouth-Colgate Game a Fierce Struggle

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 3.—The most important football test of mid season, the Dartmouth-Colgate game, ended in a tie score at 7 points Saturday. The game, which Dartmouth turned into a two unbeaten eleven played a kicking rushing attack to avert defeat in the closing period. Colgate had scored its point on Gillo's touchdown from a forward pass, with West's goal, in the first period. The Green's tying score

LOWELL DEFEATED AT PROVIDENCE, 5 TO 3

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 3.—The Gold Bucs defeated Lowell, 5 to 3 Saturday night. The game was closely contested throughout, and not until the last moments of action was Providence returned the winner.

O'Brien, formerly of the Worcester team, joined the Lowell forces and played good polo until one of the opposition's sticks came in contact with his eye. He was replaced temporarily by Carrigan. On O'Brien's return, a goal was scored by accident, the ball glancing from his stick as he was endeavoring to turn back the Providence attack.

At the end of the first period, Providence led, 2 to 1; at the end of the second, 3 to 2. The goal by accident started things wrong in the third period but Griffith came through with a pretty drive, and for a time play was red-hot. Lex Thompson at length hooked the ball past Pence, and a moment later the bell sounded the close of the play.

The Call'em

If Dartmouth and Colgate go through their regaining games victorious and Harvard wallops both Princeton and Yale, the eastern college championship will be in a pretty muddle. A win for either Colgate or the Green at Hanover on Saturday would have eliminated one contender, but when they played to a deadlock, chances for wide discussion were created, providing each finishes up as it should. Two weeks ago Dartmouth best Penn State, 19 to 0, in a game which should have gone to the Hanover eleven by a top-heavy score. Penn State Saturday broke Pennsylvania's heart when Folwell's team was thrown in the mud, 13 to 0. Dartmouth should stay U. of P. and run wild against Brown at Fenway park. Colgate also should continue its winning ways. Princeton is in the depths of despair, following reverses by Colgate and West Virginia and should be easy picking for Harvard. The Harvard-Yale game still is problematical, although we believe the Crimson will start a favorite.

She Would Not Be Coaxed
Seldom has Dame Fortune frowned on a football eleven with such consistency as she did on Dartmouth Saturday. Four times the Green forwards broke through and battered down Colgate punts, yet on three of these occasions a Colgate man recovered the ball. Once Youngstrom slashed through, knocked down the ball, only to see it bounce off on a tangent and into the arms of Colgate back, who dashed 25 yards before being hauled down. No more peculiar twist of fate will be recorded on a college gridiron this year than that freak play. From counts of the game we have read, Dartmouth, although slightly outshined in the total of yards actually gained, came out of the grueling contest with her colors at the top of the masthead and if given an even share of the breaks would have scored Colgate off her feet.

A Funeral Has More Life
From a total enrollment of about 1500, hardly 100 undergraduates turned out to support their team at Spalding park Saturday. The handful present cheered only half-heartedly and with no unity. The team was allowed to play out its string as best it might, but received no practical encouragement from the school itself. What's the matter with your spirit, high school? Attendance at the games will do the eleven more good than all the season tickets you purchase and don't use.

Just a Slight Disturbance
Our neighbor across the way, in telling of the football game on Wednesday between the Mitchell Boys school and the high school freshmen, refers to the latter team as the aggregation "which has been withstanding the shocks of the regular team in practice."

Extended Feet
Have you ever had a chance to watch a jolly, good game of soccer? No? Well, it's a game very much worth while and up in Forge Village the Abbot Worsteds Co. is represented this year by a dashing coterie of nimble-footed lads, who can boot the cover off the bloomin' egg with the best of 'em. The team play of the Abbot boys is the set of success and they plan to heel and to their merry way to the Lowell and Lawrence league championship.

ABBOTS TRIM THE LYNN HIBERNIANS
The Abbot Worsteds Co. soccer team

came through the preliminary round of the national cup competition play on Saturday by defeating the Lynn Hibernians on the Forge Village grounds by the score of 3 to 2. The game was fast and cleanly played, the Boston leaguers being forced to bow down before the excessive speed and team play of the Abbots. The lineup and summary:

POLO TEAMS NOW IN MID-SEASON FORM

With all teams now playing at mid-season form the race for the pennant in the American roller polo league is waxing warm and with all clubs confident of success.

The new men added to the Lowell Lawrence and Providence teams during the past week have greatly strengthened these outfits with the result that the clubs are now well balanced and indications point to one of the most hotly contested campaigns in the history of the strenuous game. The cash prizes to be awarded by the league in addition to bonuses offered by some of the managers have added much in the fight for leadership.

Jack O'Brien, who has been signed to play halfback for Lowell is an experienced man, having played with Worcester and Lawrence last year. It is a big husky fellow and knows the game from A to Z. Playing on the same team with the brilliant Harkins, it is expected that he will be at his best.

Red Williams and Mather, have given Providence's pennant hopes a great boost, while the acquisition of Duffreese by Lawrence has pulled in only weak spots in that lineup.

Fall River, who are dead at the helm in leading the league, with a slight margin over Frank Hardy's Salem club and the New Bedford Whalers, Worcester, with the speedy "big gun" Higgins and Lee Taylor on the rush line has a fast and well balanced club.

All games are being well attended with the crowds at Fall River, New Bedford, Salem and Providence, being the largest on record. Worcester and Lawrence also are drawing well, while in Lowell the fans are beginning to turn out in large numbers.

Lowell will play Worcester here to-morrow night and O'Brien will make his first local appearance as a member of the home club. On Friday, when Salem will be here. The schedule for the week follows:

Tonight—Lowell at Salem; Worcester at Lawrence; New Bedford at Providence.

Tuesday—Worcester at Lowell; Providence at New Bedford.

Wednesday—Lowell at Worcester; New Bedford at Fall River; Lawrence at Salem.

Thursday—No games scheduled.

Saturday—Fall River at Providence; New Bedford at Worcester; Salem at Lawrence.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

AT C. M. A. C. HALL

Close to one thousand French-speaking republicans gathered at the C. M. A. C. hall in Pavlovsk street yesterday afternoon to listen to addresses in favor of Gov. Calvin Coolidge and the other candidates on the republican ticket, the speakers being Congressman Rogers; Joseph H. Warner, speaker of the house of representatives; Lawyer Joseph F. Pelletier of Salem, president of the French-American Republican club of Massachusetts; Representative Henry Achin and Victor F. Jewett; District Attorney Nathan A. Tuffis; Frank H. Putnam, candidate for senator in the eighth district, and David Dickson, chairman of the republican committee.

Joseph Provost opened the meeting and introduced as chairman Maxime Lepine. Under the direction of George Carpenter, community singing was enjoyed, and the first speaker was District Attorney Tuffis, who spoke briefly on the contest for district attorney.

Referring to his opponent, William E. Russell, the speaker said he is listed as being a resident of Cambridge, but his name cannot be found in the telephone book nor in the city directory.

"Mr. Russell," continued Mr. Tuffis, "speaks of cases he cannot find on the records of the district attorney's office. Either Mr. Russell does not know where to look for them or he is telling an untruth, and in either case he is not fit for the position."

Mr. Tuffis then dwelt at length on conditions existing in this country, high cost of living, strikes and labor unrests, and laid all at the door of the democratic party. He concluded by urging all to go to the polls next Tuesday and elect all the republican candidates in order that the bearers of the red flag, who have invaded America, shall be driven out.

Joseph H. Warner, speaker of the house, was next introduced. He spoke at length on what has been accomplished by Governor Coolidge during his term of office, referring to the many bills passed in favor of the workingman and ridiculing the many promises of Richard H. Long. He refused a statement accredited to Mr. Long to the effect that the state of Idaho had given its soldiers a much larger bonus than Massachusetts, and in order to substantiate his statement he produced a telegram from the governor of Idaho to the effect that no bonus had been given the veterans. He spoke of the plan of Mr. Long to purchase the electric, gas and railway companies in this state and said such action would bring about an indebtedness on the state far greater than the indebtedness of all the states of the Union combined.

Lawyer Pelletier of Salem, in advocating the candidacy of Governor Coolidge, referred to the following appointments made by him during his term of office: Dr. Bedard of Lynn, medical examiner for Essex county; Lawyer Monette of Lawrence, attorney for the board of labor and industries; Mr. Lamontagne of Holyoke to the commission to codify the by-laws of towns, and others. He said Governor Coolidge had done more for the French-speaking element of this state than any other governor. He closed by making a strong appeal in behalf of Frank H. Putnam, candidate for senator.

When Congressman Rogers was introduced he was given a great ovation. In opening the congressman told of attending a rally a short distance from Lowell Saturday night, and he said when he first entered the hall he thought he was in the wrong place, for the speaker was a leading democrat of the community. The second speaker was another democrat, he said, "and that led me to make inquiries and I found that I was in the right place and attending a Coolidge rally." Mr. Rogers said the present issue was of men and not of party and the situation in this state overshadows international affairs. "There is a black winter staring us in the face," he said, "and we can help ourselves only by re-electing Coolidge and also by electing the other republicans on the ticket. The whole nation is watching Massachusetts, and if the republicans fail, many another leader of a state, in the hour of test, will fall as he thinks of how Massachusetts threw out a man who stood for law and order. But Massachusetts will be true to her ideal, and next Tuesday she will show the rest of the nation that she is for law and order."

Representatives Achin and Jewett told of their close relations with Governor Coolidge and they both reviewed what had been accomplished by him during the past year. Both urged the voters to attend the polls Tuesday and vote as their conscience dictates. Mr. Putnam made an appeal for Coolidge and the other republicans and also reminded his listeners that his name will appear on the ballot in the senatorial contest in the eighth district. The rally was brought to a close with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," after David Dickson of the city committee had made an appeal for automobiles as the polls next Tuesday in order to convey to the voting stations those physically unable to get there.

BULGARIA DISAPPOINTED BY TERMS OF PEACE

SOFIA, Bulgaria (By Courier to Paris, Oct. 5).—The terms of peace prescribed by the allies to Bulgaria, a summary of which reached Sofia by telegraph, produced profound disappointment and depression throughout the country. The people, press and government were unanimous in condemning them as harsh and humiliating. Young King Boris was much grieved when he read the announcement of the terms. He had not believed Bulgaria would be stripped of Thrace, its entire coast line on the Aegean and a part of its western frontier.

Minister of War Madjareff, formerly Bulgarian minister to London, declared to the Associated Press that Bulgaria might for the moment be humiliated and crushed, but she would rise again with renewed strength. It might be five years from now, it might be ten. It might be twenty, but rise she would. Her "just military and territorial desires might be repressed by the force of superior numbers, but her spirit, which was eternal, could not be suppressed by any power on earth."

The Bulgarians, he continued, were a patient, forbearing people, with whom patriotism and national honor were a passion. There could be no peace in the Balkans under such an "unjust territorial arrangement" as the peace conference had laid down. Bulgaria would have to prepare to resist the invasion of its soil by her hostile neighbors, which sooner or later was inevitable. She could not attain her normal, economic, political or social growth under the "harsh provisions" of the treaty. She might be compelled out of self-preservation, if the terms were not modified, to resort to drastic expedients.

He was not prepared to say what these were.

He declared the peace terms to Bulgaria not only were a mockery of President Wilson's principles of nationalities and the territorial integrity of small nations, but were a direct refutation of the cause for which the allies professed to have fought.

"How could any just and well informed group of statesmen," he asked, "give Caribrod and other Bulgarian cities in which there was not a single Serb to the Serbians? How could they expect Bulgaria to carry on its industrial life with every port on the Aegean closed to her? The peace of the allies, he declared, was not a peace—it was a "travesty" on justice.

POLITENESS IS "COMING BACK"

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—Politeness is returning to London. Shopkeepers are learning again to be civil. This applies even to grocers, who, since the introduction of rationing, have been the greatest tyrants, barring taxicab drivers, that the war produced.

The cynical-minded account for the grocer's unaccustomed civility on the ground that his customers will be given the privilege of taking their ration books to some other store, but there can be no doubt of the new spirit in the air.

"We say 'Thank you' now," announces a sign in a cigar store which was recently taken over by demobilized soldiers. These soldiers have brought good manners back from the front. No reports have been received of any "thank you's" from taxicab drivers, for the cabs are still scarce, but it's not uncommon nowadays to hear a "bus conductor express thanks for the penny when he punches the ticket."

The butcher also is falling into line. He no longer expects to be bribed for attentiveness and he has abandoned the war-time practice of throwing a chop at a customer and expecting him to find the paper in which to wrap it up.

Americans who came over for the first time during the war are at last beginning to understand why pre-war tourists praised life in England.

WHO SAYS CHINA ISN'T GETTING MODERN?

Some folks insist China is a sleepy old nation and is making only slow progress along present-day lines. Be that as it may, here are two very wide-awake young Chinese girls who have come to the United States to get the finishing touches to an education begun in their own country.

They are those and Nora Liung, 16 and 18 years old, respectively, daughters of Liung Hsiung, ex-premier and minister of finance for the Chinese nation, and now known as "the Herbert Hoover of China" because of his work as director of food relief.

The girls, who speak English and French fluently, expect to spend the next four years in America, at school and college.

12 HOURS OF DAY FOR DRINKING

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—Twelve hours a day for drinking will be proposed by British saloon-keepers in a bill they expect to introduce into parliament. Before the war the number of week-day hours for the sale of liquor was fixed at 12½ in London, 17 in provincial towns and 16 in the country.

The new bill proposes to leave Sunday hours substantially as they were in pre-war times, the London number, 7, being applied to the whole of England.

Franchise of the measure say they are seeking to convert the public house from a place used merely for the consumption of alcoholic drinks into one of varied public refreshments and social entertainment. They propose to remodel public houses in order to make them commodious and airy and to introduce music, dancing and games.

Temperance leaders strongly oppose the bill. "The liquor trade," commented George B. Wilson, secretary of the United Kingdom Alliance, "fear the advance of public opinion in this country and is alarmed by what has taken place in America. It is proposed to make the drink shop so attractive that it will become the social center of the neighborhood, open apparently to women and children, as well as men. It seems impossible to believe that the great volume of public opinion will agree to a measure which will enormously increase the power of drink."

Under the war-time regulations, which are still effective, hours for the sale of drinks in public houses are restricted to between 12 o'clock noon and 2:30 p. m., and between 5 and 10 p. m.

LIBERTY SQUARE

CLUB MEETING

A well attended meeting of the Liberty Square Social and Athletic club was held at its rooms Sunday afternoon. Three new members were initiated, and Mr. Convery of the Lowell fire department spoke on the double platoon yesterday which the members voted to endorse. It was also voted to purchase a suitable memorial for the six members who died in the service of their country. Mr. Dalton of the United States navy, who is to be given a life-saving medal on recommendation of the secretary of the navy, for saving a boy at St. Nazaire, France, showed some interesting pictures to his brother members which he took on his travels. The meeting adjourned after the different reports were read and accepted.

CLINTON ATHLETIC CLUB

The first meeting of the recently organized Clinton Athletic club of Pawtucketville was held yesterday in the quarters of the organization in Mammoth road and the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Joseph McAlvinne, president; Robert Browne, vice president; and Joseph Ready, clerk and treasurer. Timothy Tully, John and Anthony Farley and Frank Greenhalge were elected as the board of directors.

Final Call for Voters

time to come in for several hours after that. This year's ballot is a fairly big one but not so ponderous as to delay the tabulation of the vote materially. The big issue of concentrated local industry will be the vote of the city relative to the acceptance or rejection of Plan B form of charter. As the campaign drew to a close this referendum began to take precedence over the others and surpassed most of the contests for office as far as interest was concerned.

The paramount issue, of course, is the franchise for governor and in Lowell most eyes will be centered on this fight and the Plan B question.

The double platoon system for firemen in the local department also comes to the front for a decision on the part of the electorate tomorrow, but interest in this question is not as widespread as that which surrounds the charter matter. The firemen have worked hard for the past several weeks to bring the question to the attention of the public and have succeeded to an extent that is gratifying to them.

The local representative contests are somewhat overshadowed this year by the contest in the seventh senatorial district where John T. Sparks is opposing Frank H. Putnam for election. Both candidates have made a thorough canvass of the district and interest in the outcome of the fight is rife.

Today the Sparks' forces were confident of victory after a rousing meeting in Ficks hall yesterday afternoon and meetings in clubs throughout the district. Mr. Sparks' managers say that last year Senator Walsh defeated Senator Weeks in this district and Gov. Coolidge nooted out Mr. Long by only 70 votes. They advance this argument to indicate that the district is not overwhelmingly republican as has often been stated.

This noon Mr. Sparks spoke at the Tremont & Suffolk and Lawrence mills and this evening will cover the entire city.

In the meantime his republican opponent, Mr. Putnam is not wasting time and owing to the nominal republican strength of the district as well as an effective although quiet canvass on his part he is confident of success tomorrow.

In the seventh senatorial district there is also a contest being waged of the fact that a Lowell man is upholding the republican end of the fight. Gardner W. Pearson is opposing Chas. R. Burns, the democratic nominee whose home is in Lynn. Only two Lowell wards, 5 and 9, are in this district, but many of the surrounding towns will have a part in deciding the fight.

The representative contests are confined to the 14th and 15th districts and the field in both districts has been previously surveyed in these columns. In the 16th district Representative Thomas J. Corbett is again unopposed for election.

Tonight's Rallyes

Tonight will see the finale of one of the most interesting contests waged in Massachusetts for many years. The local long campaign committee announced this noon that rallies in the interest of Mr. Long, democratic candidate for governor, would be held at Tower's corner at 5.30 and city hall steps at 9 o'clock. Republican headquarters had nothing to report in the way of rallies this evening when queried this noon, but it is probable that the various candidates will stage 11th hour whirlwind tours on their own initiative.

The Soldier Candidate

Local soldiers are making a strong appeal for the soldier candidate on the democratic ticket. Col. Herbert, who is running for the office of lieutenant governor. The local soldiers assure that Col. Herbert should receive the soldier vote throughout the state, not only in recognition of his service during the war, but because of the stamp of man he is. When he appeared at the democratic rally Friday night he made a splendid impression and was second only to Mr. Long, himself, in the cordial greeting extended by the audience.

Chandler Wood's Statement

It is the general impression that Chandler M. Wood will secure a sweeping victory over his republican opponent in the contest for state treasurer. Mr. Wood has sent out the following statement relative to his position on the issues of the campaign:

"The democratic party, to which I belong, stands for law and order. It does and always has put the welfare and the security of the state above the interest of any class. It has always been the true friend of the rank and file of organized labor.

"I cannot yield the right to any one to commit the democratic party to any other cause. I cannot permit that party to be put in the position of sanctioning disobedience to law and

A FINAL WORD AND PLEDGE OF BROAD, LIBERAL AND IMPARTIAL PUBLIC SERVICE

To the Citizens of the Eighth Senatorial District:—

I have tried to impress upon you in this campaign, that I may safely be trusted with the responsibilities of office, as your Senator, and that a broad, liberal and impartial discharge of duty will guide my every act in office. May I ask you to believe in me, and accord me your confidence and support. You will not be disappointed with my public service.

I have tried to present my own qualifications for office, and my ability to represent you. have not sought to influence you by linking my candidacy to that of any other man seeking public office. In other words, I have stood in my own shoes, and made my fight on my own personality and fitness for office. Is not that the manly way to do it? To hide behind the candidacy of another man, and seek to ride into office by use of his name, is rather a negative way to aspire for public office. Do you not think so?

My final word and assurance to you is this:—You may rely upon me to render faithful public service, having in mind always, that as public official my only duty is to safeguard the interests of ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DISTRICT—to view legislation from the standpoint of what is best for the general good of the district and state, without regard for any faction, party or individual.

That is My Pledge, Mr. Voter, I Can Say or Do No More. Very truly yours, JOHN T. SPARKS, Drcut, Mass. Advertisement

Workingmen of Massachusetts

No man who is sympathetic with the living problem of the working man in these days of high prices and profiteering should fail to vote Tuesday, Nov. 4th, and urge his friends and neighbors to vote for Richard H. Long. There are people who cheer the news of the rise over night of the value of shares in which they traffic in the stock market, but who hold up their hands in horror when the father of a family asks for wages to make both ends meet. The public is fair. The influences fighting Richard H. Long are unfair and selfish. If you would have a man who has proven his human sympathy by being the first to establish in his big factories the 8-hour day and the 5-day week, with 6 days' pay, you will

ATTENTION MILL WORKERS

Never in the history of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has the Republican party, so flagrantly as this year under the lead of Calvin Coolidge, befogged the real issues and tried to cover up under a so-called "law and order" platform. William M. Wood, head of the American Woolen Company, and his associates demand that Calvin Coolidge be elected on the ground that he will carry out their ideas and aid in the enactment of laws which will be beneficial to mill owners.

No doubt, every employe of the textile mills remembers when the owners of the mills where they were employed compelled them to be at their work early in the morning and until late at night. They paid such small, starvation wages that the people employed as mill operatives could not support their families.

The operatives' ten-year-old children were obliged to work like slaves in the mills and were denied educational advantages. Thousands unfortunately never grew up. They were so poorly clad, ill-nourished, that they soon became victims of tuberculosis and other wasting diseases. What did the mill owners care? Children to them were mere chattels. The ordinary mill worker today remembers vividly these terrible conditions, brought about by Republican control in the State of Massachusetts. The same mill owners are spending thousands of dollars to elect Calvin Coolidge.

Neither William M. Wood nor the other mill officials have ever been real friends of the working people. If the mill owners, who are today backing Calvin Coolidge, had their way, the operatives would be working from fourteen to sixteen hours a day under unsatisfactory conditions. Thanks to the unions, changes have been brought about.

The owners of the woolen and cotton mills control about everything. They are among the big stockholders of the street railway systems. They scheme and connive to get a ten-cent fare and high prices from the workers.

Richard H. Long has always been a friend of labor. He is the first manufacturer in this State to grant an eight-hour day, and now his employes at his big factories at Framingham work but five days a week and receive six days' pay. Prussian autocratic methods will soon be a thing of the past in mill cities of Massachusetts.

VOTE FOR RICHARD H. LONG A Real Friend of the Working Man.

Replies to Strikers

American Federation of Labor had suggested a way of settling the coal strike.

Freight service will not be disturbed unless the coal shortage becomes serious. Officials believe that with the stocks of coal in transit together with the thousands of tons stored at terminals, it would not be necessary to curtail this service for several weeks. A survey of all the coal stocks held by railroads under direction of the railroad administration is progressing. The administration also is gathering figures on the quantity of coal at seaboard, intended for export, but which has been ordered held to be used by railroads if necessary.

At the White House today it was said that President Wilson's offer for arbitration of the strike was still open. Meantime preparations for the setting up of a commission on industrial unrest as recommended by the public group in the recent industrial conference, are going forward and the selection of the personnel is expected to be completed by the cabinet tomorrow. One of the first effects of the coal strike has been the curtailment of passenger trains on some railroads. Director General Lines has given regional directors wide discretion in this matter as they are in a position to survey the coal needs of their respective districts.

Many Mines Operating
Non-union mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia were working full time today, according to reports to the Washington office of the operators. At some points in those states the miners were trying to get out more than the normal day's production.

In the Pennsylvania non-union fields, all mines were reported in full operation. There was no change in the situation around Pittsburgh.

Non-union men in the West Virginia fields "went to work with their shirts off," messages said, "in the hope of getting out more coal than was mined in any single day last week."

First reports from the central competitive fields—Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and western Pennsylvania—showed all union miners out.

No Disorders Reported
CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—No movement of men back to the mines developed in the early morning reports from the country's bituminous mine fields. A small number of lignite miners in the Burlington, N. D., area returned to work after being on strike one day, explaining that they had not received union orders to continue work. No attempt was made by owners to operate the unionized mines.

There were no reports of lawlessness from any of the mining fields and the first arrest reported in connection with the strike came from Walsenburg, Colo., where United States immigration inspectors took into custody a Bulgarian miner, charged with having threatened to burn several mines in the district if the miners returned to work.

Former Sheriff Arrested
Continued
Bingham and Robert R. Cole of Skowhegan, who placed him in custody. They were expected to cover the distance of approximately 50 miles and arrive here early this afternoon.

Burke has figured prominently in the case from the fact that he claimed Bartley shot him through the leg in front of Burke's home about 9 o'clock on the night of October 15, an hour after he and Bartley had left the latter's hotel, the Moose River House, together. That was the last time the hotel man was seen alive, as far as known.

He swore out a warrant the next morning for Bartley's arrest and two days later, as the result of a search made by the latter's brothers and county officials, Bartley's body was found beneath the roots of a tree which had been blown down 40 feet from the road to Canada, two miles north of Jackman.

Death had been caused by two bullet wounds in the head, one in the back and the other, fired at close range, in the forehead.

Burke was placed under guard by two deputy sheriffs at his home, where he was confined to bed with a serious bullet wound in the leg, but the officers were removed upon the arrival of Sheriff Moores. His wound had healed so that he was able to walk out with crutches Friday.

While the officers have been reticent, it was understood that the analysis of the contents of Bartley's stomach at Bowdoin Medical school plays an important part in the investigation. Had digestion proceeded more than three hours, Burke, it was said, would have been exonerated from suspicion. Otherwise he would have to account for his movements between 3 and 5 o'clock on the night Bartley disappeared.

Burke is 35 years of age and married. He was born in Fairhead. Bartley was two years older. He was well known through northern Maine and Canada, and had accumulated considerable money in the hotel and lumber business. The two men were closely associated in politics and in business.

Plan For Final Vote on Move to End Coal Strike

Ratification of Peace Treaty This Week

RATIFY OR TABLE TREATY

The Proposal in Unanimous Consent Agreement Is Drawn Up

Administration Leaders Plan to Present Agreement in Senate Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A final vote this week on ratification of the peace treaty is proposed in a unanimous consent agreement drawn up for presentation to the senate today by the administration leaders.

Apparently contemplating the possibility of a deadlock over reservations, the agreement provides that after this week, the treaty, if not ratified, can be laid aside.

Under the plan put forward as a counter to Republican Leader Lodge's proposal for a final vote November 12, all amendments would be disposed of today, the reservations of the foreign relations committee would be passed on tomorrow and Wednesday and the committee's resolution of ratification voted on Thursday. Friday and Saturday would be reserved for consideration of alternate ratification resolutions that presented by the committee fail.

The fact that the agreement provided for a possible deadlock on the treaty was taken as another indication that the administration forces would vote against ratification if the committee reservations were adopted, and then would present a ratification resolution containing only qualifications of an interpretive character.

Debate on all subjects relating to the treaty would be limited under the plan to 15 minute speeches, and the senate would meet an hour earlier than usual each day.

Senator King, democrat, Utah, introduced a resolution declaring that the United States "withholds its assent" to the treaty's labor provisions and "declines to participate" in the international labor congress, because vital American domestic questions are affected.

EFFECT OF COAL STRIKE

Lowell Mills Have Good Supply on Hand—No Immediate Shortage Here

Although practically all Lowell mills and industries have a sufficient supply of soft coal on hand to allow the plants to maintain operations for at least two months in the face of the strike of miners in the bituminous fields, the local railroad service will be materially reduced if the strike continues for any length of time. In fact, a meeting of the managers of all the New England railroads has been called with a view of taking off a number of trains on each division and, although the curtailment will be more or less comprehensive, every effort will be made to discommode the traveling public as little as possible under the circumstances.

Lowell coal dealers are absolutely in accord in saying that there is no immediate cause for worry or undue excitement. They seem to agree that unless the strike exceeds three or four weeks in duration there will be no real shortage here, and they further are of the opinion that the strike will be over within three weeks at the latest.

Meantime the railroads are confiscating all soft coal standing in freight yards and in process of transportation and in the neighborhood of 30,000 tons are contained in cars at Western Avenue and other yards here in Lowell. Until further orders are received throughout the Boston & Maine system the coal will remain where it is. Gas and electric light companies, hospitals and other public utilities have been excepted in the confiscation order.

P. R. Todd, district director for New England of the United States railroad administration today authorized the following public statement regarding the possible effect on the service of the New England railroads that may result from the strike:

"On account of the national crisis brought about by the strike of the bituminous coal miners the public will doubtless suffer much inconvenience and possible loss, but the question at issue is one of such vital importance to the life of the nation that every citizen should gladly bear his share of the trouble caused by it. Certainly the government has done everything in its power to avoid the strike.

"On account of the absolute necessity of conserving bituminous coal in every possible way in order to keep a reasonable amount of passenger and freight train service in effect. It will be necessary for the railroads throughout the entire country to greatly modify their train service, and this will be done immediately in New England proportionately as it is done in other sections of the country."

PRINCE OF WALES AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—The Prince of Wales paid his second visit to Toronto today. He drove to Government House immediately on his arrival and will not make an official appearance until tomorrow when he will address the combined Empire and Canadian clubs.

AUTO RACERS KILLED

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 3.—S. O. Bottom, driver, and his mechanic, whose name is unknown here, entrants in the El Paso-Phoenix automobile race, were killed this morning, one and one-half miles west of Vail, where their car turned over on a sharp curve.

FORMER CHAUFFEUR FOR PERSHING SLAIN

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 3.—Officials at Las Cruces, N. M., were investigating today the fatal shooting of John T. Hutchings, automobile race driver, near Lanark, N. M., yesterday by a party of four men and four women.

The eight are being held at Las Cruces on charges of murder. Major F. M. Scanlan, one of the eight, declared the shooting was accidental. He said they were shooting at a target when Hutchings passed in his car in the El Paso-Phoenix road race.

Hutchings was driver for General Pershing during the American punitive expedition into Mexico and has been a contestant in most of the automobile races of the southwest.

FINAL CALL TO VOTERS

State Election Tomorrow Ex-

Plan B Charter and Governor's Contest Centres of Local Interest

Lowell voters will go to the polls tomorrow to choose their state officials for 1920 and take action on six referenda, two of which vitally affect the city itself.

The polling places in the 28 Lowell precincts will open promptly at 6 a. m. and will close when the clock strikes 4 in the afternoon. The machinery for conducting the election is in readiness for the task before it and city hall officials looked forward today to the handling of a big vote in an expeditious and efficient manner.

Local returns will be available between 6 and 6.30 o'clock, City Clerk Flynn predicted today, and will con-

TWO IMPORTANT LOCAL QUESTIONS

Among the questions on the ballot at tomorrow's election are two of great importance to the voters of Lowell. These are the charter question and that of the double platoon for our local firemen.

On the question of adopting Plan B it seems that the citizens should be thoroughly conversant with the details in that charter so that if they vote in favor of it, they need not be surprised if they find people elected to office of whom they will feel thoroughly ashamed. The Sun has explained the workings of Plan B, showing that without primary elections only minority candidates will be chosen. Nobody will be elected by a majority vote.

Where, for example, there will be half a dozen candidates for mayor, the least desirable of the lot may be elected, because the leaders will draw from one another to such an extent that the most popular men may fall behind. This is but one of the many defects in Plan B which, however, is right in principle and with the necessary amendments would make, in our judgment, a splendid charter. Every effort has been made to enlighten the citizens upon the provisions of this charter, its good and its bad points, so that they may act intelligently in passing upon the question at the polls tomorrow.

Plan B on the ballot is not the Corbett charter so called.

Double Platoon System

The other question of greatest local interest is that of adopting the double platoon system for the local firemen. Many of our citizens are opposed to this proposition on economic grounds. They believe that the firemen have been fairly well taken care of and that for the present with taxes so very high the city should take no step that would add to the expense of our fire department or increase the taxes.

On the other hand, there are many people who would favor the adoption of the double platoon system but for the fact that the firemen are affiliated

PALMER REPLIES TO STRIKERS

Attorney General's Answer to Protest From Striking
Coal Miners

Declares Combinations to Stop Production Cannot Be Tolerated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Atty. Gen. Palmer today informed coal miners who protested against the strike injunction that the government stood ready "to do everything in its power to facilitate an inquiry into the merits of the controversy but in the meantime the law must be enforced and combinations to stop production cannot be tolerated."

Mr. Palmer's statement, made in reply to a telegram from the union local at Glencoe, Ohio, to President Wilson, was taken to indicate that no attempt would be made by the government to settle the wage controversy until the strike was called off.

Little Change in Strike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Labor officials declined today to discuss reports that Samuel Gompers, president of the

with the American Federation of Labor. These people are opposed to firemen and policemen belonging to the American Federation of Labor. It may be that this affiliation will never result in having the firemen called out on a strike, but many will assume that while the firemen belong to the labor organization, they will continue to agitate for further concessions such as still shorter hours and higher wages.

There are many other citizens, however, who will vote for the double platoon system, simply because the firemen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, believing that firemen have a right to reasonable hours of labor to which they have long been denied. This class of voters believe that all crafts should have a reasonable time with their families and that the firemen should be no exception. Thus the citizens view the question in different aspects; but it remains for the majority of the voters to decide and the citizens will accept the decision with good grace whatever it may be.

BACKBONE OF STRIKE BROKEN

Full Force of Longshoremen on Chelsea Piers, New York, Return to Work

Gangs of Men Respond
When Stevedores' Whistles
Sounded This Morning

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The backbone of the longshoremen's strike was believed to have been broken this morning when the full force of men employed on the Chelsea piers between West 118th and 23rd streets returned to work. The Chelsea district, where the piers of the White Star, Red Star and French lines are located, has been regarded by shipping men as the strategic center of the strike and the majority of the radical element among the strikers has been employed there.

When the stevedores' whistles sounded this morning gangs of men hurried through the gates and were immediately put to work. At the headquarters of the International Longshoremen's association, it was announced that all strikers had decided to return to work wherever they were needed.

BRIAND STEALS MARCH ON CLEMENCEAU

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Aristide Briand, the former premier, has stolen a march upon Premier Clemenceau by a speech in the political campaign last week, in which he advocated reforms in the power of the president, which Clemenceau was expected to make a leading plank in the governmental electoral program. M. Briand in his speech at Nantes advocated constitutional changes to give more authority to the president of the republic and more strength to the executive powers. The president, M. Briand urged, should be elected by popular vote, instead of being selected indirectly, as at present, by a vote of two houses of parliament.

"This is imperative," said M. Briand, "that the president of France should assume a more efficacious and a wider field of authority." Another plank in the platform of M. Briand calls for the absolute disarmament of Germany and closer contact with the allies of France in the economic field.

LAURENT TAILHADE, FRENCH POET, DEAD

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Laurent Tailhade the French poet, died today.

M. Tailhade was the author of a number of poetical works and essays and also contributed to the French press. He was perhaps better known for his participation in two duels in 1909, one of which with the writer, J. Gohier, was staged before the cinematograph in a most pacific manner for the edification of French music hall audiences, only one pistol being used. In the other duel he wounded Gustave Tery, the French politician, who had made attacks upon the French ministry of marine which M. Tailhade resented.

that as the result of the failure of Italy to present the note at Bucharest, the Rumanian government failed to that all the great powers concurred in the note.

The Italian delegation in Paris has expressed surprise that the note has not been delivered, but the explanathe note with the request that an immediate reply be made.

PRESSURE TO CALL OFF STRIKE

Wilson and Palmer Ready to Attempt Adjustment of Controversy

Efforts to Have Mine Workers Recall Strike Order
Continued

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Continued pressure is being brought to bear on officials of the United Mine Workers of America to call off the strike of bituminous coal miners. Definite assurance has been given union officials that President Wilson and Atty. Gen. Palmer stand ready to attempt an adjustment of the controversy that led to the strike as soon as the strike order has been rescinded.

This assurance was renewed today by Mr. Palmer in a telegram to a local union in Ohio. At the same time, it became known that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor had informed John L. Lewis, president of the miners, of the government's attitude and that Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, had been in communication with Mr. Lewis over the long distance telephone.

Mr. Gompers' message was sent Friday after his interview with Mr. Palmer and it probably gave rise to reports yesterday that he had attempted to intervene personally to end the strike. The result of the efforts of government officials and labor leaders to bring about the recalling of the strike order are not known here.

Mr. Palmer said today that while it might become necessary to petition for more injunctions in the coal strike, the time had not yet arrived. He said that other injunctions, if obtained, probably would be directed against persons other than those mentioned in the restraining order at Indianapolis. This is in line with his instructions to district attorneys to keep a close watch on all persons conspiring to forward the strike and to report immediately to the department of justice.

CALL CAMPAIGN

North Middlesex chapter of the American Red Cross, with headquarters in this city, tonight launches its third roll call campaign, with a dinner for team workers and allied committees at St. Anne's parish house. The opening meeting will be featured by the presence of Miss Edith M. Ambrose, a Red Cross overseas nurse, who had wonderful experiences in the war zone.

Pre-campaign propaganda has been freely distributed and the local committee leaders are optimistic as to the measure of success which will attend the drive in Lowell. Full organizations, such as the fire department members, have pledged themselves to the cause, 100 per cent, strong and it is the hope of the workers that the chapter rolls will contain even more names in times of peace than during the days of war.

"All you need is a heart and a dollar" was the clarion rally call of the Red Cross during the days of great emergency and now that the strife has passed the same call will go out, for the work of the Red Cross is not yet finished and will not be while there remain American soldiers and sailors in Europe and wounded and sick men in the hospitals of the United States. The need of money and of workers is real and although the roll call is not a money drive, money is needed if the work of rehabilitation and reconstruction is to go on in full power.

Great men of every nation have reverently endorsed the coming campaign and urged its support. Strength for the Red Cross for the battles of peace at home, the eternal war on disease and distress, is the earnest desire of Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore.

Cardinal Gibbons' tribute to the achievements of the society and appeal for continued support of it follows:

"The American Red Cross has written a glorious and imperishable chapter in the history of our nation."

Paul B. Chandler, chairman of the Lowell roll call committee, has gathered experienced campaign workers about him and is confident of local success. In speaking of the drive today, Mr. Chandler said:

"Half of every person's dollar stays right here in the local chapter and the other half goes right next door, one might say, for it is available for our use if we need it. The war is over, certainly, but the work of the Red Cross goes on forever. Just as it did before the war. Not exactly the same as before the war, but that, for the Red Cross is undertaking a public health program that is tremendous in scope, and that will be of benefit to every person in this huge country of ours, to all our people of Lowell, as well as to the 400 soldiers' families that the local chapter, at just this inopportune time, is looking out for in this Lowell of ours."

SAVE YOUR HAIR

Get rid of every bit of that ugly dandruff and stop falling hair

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After several applications all dandruff usually goes and hair stops coming out. Every hair in your head grows new life, vigor, brightness, thickness and more color.—Adv.

TER In the history of our nation, the war now happily at an end, the Red Cross was to be found in the shoulder to shoulder with our triumphant army, and in every way aiding and encouraging the soldiers in their fight for humanity.

"A new chapter remains to be written, a chapter less dramatic perhaps, because made in a time of peace, but none of the less glorious in its spirit and in its object. That chapter will have to do with America at home."

"Here at home, the Red Cross has pledged its thought, its influence and its support to advance the interest of our own people, who by reason of circumstances, need just the help which only such an organization as the Red Cross can bring. The Red Cross is about to begin a work that has for its object the welfare of all within the limits of our great country."

"In order to do this work well the Red Cross must rely upon the encouragement and support of every American citizen. It is my earnest hope, therefore, that all will join this magnificent organization."

MATRIMONIAL

A wedding of uncommon beauty was solemnized at the First Presbyterian church, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, when Mr. William Henry Bennett of North Tewksbury and Miss Ethel Perrins Barris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Barris of Jenness street, were united in marriage by Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, pastor. Beautiful decorations of chrysanthemums, palms and autumn foliage formed a charming background for the bridal party, which included a maid of honor, four bridesmaids, two little flower girls, the best man and four ushers.

Just prior to the service, Miss Beatrice Porter sang "O, Promise Me," and Miss Minnie Tucker, church organist, played the Lohengrin march as the bridal party entered the church. The maid of honor was Miss Bertha W. Barris, a sister of the bride, while the bridesmaids were Mrs. George C. Libbee, Mrs. Henry F. Fessenden, Miss Helen E. Barris of Springfield and Miss Esther E. Bennett. The two flower girls were twin nieces of the bride, Evelyn and Eleanor Barris of Springfield. The best man was Mr. Henry F. Fessenden, while the ushers were Messrs. Clyde D. Gray, Fred M. Cameron, Paul Hartford and Edward Stewart of Springfield.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of duchess satin and Spanish lace with court train and veil caught with pearls. She carried roses. The gown of the maid of honor was of peach tinted satin.

"In order to do this work well the Red Cross must rely upon the encouragement and support of every American citizen. It is my earnest hope, therefore, that all will join this magnificent organization."

Paul B. Chandler, chairman of the Lowell roll call committee, has gathered experienced campaign workers about him and is confident of local success. In speaking of the drive today, Mr. Chandler said:

"Half of every person's dollar stays right here in the local chapter and the other half goes right next door, one might say, for it is available for our use if we need it. The war is over, certainly, but the work of the Red Cross goes on forever. Just as it did before the war. Not exactly the same as before the war, but that, for the Red Cross is undertaking a public health program that is tremendous in scope, and that will be of benefit to every person in this huge country of ours, to all our people of Lowell, as well as to the 400 soldiers' families that the local chapter, at just this inopportune time, is looking out for in this Lowell of ours."

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Ten young men pleaded guilty in police court today to being present at a game on the Lord's day and paid fines of $5 each. They were arrested early yesterday morning in a house on upper Westford street by Officers Winn, Moore, Clark and Conroy, who allege that the ten were engaged in "shooting craps."

The names given by defendants were George Matley, William Bradford, George Smith, Harry Stone, Harry Rollins, George Green, Frank Gill, Frank Warner, James Cassidy and Samuel Smith.

Found guilty of drunkenness, James F. Walsh drew down a suspended sentence to the state farm. Patrolman Aldrich, who arrested Walsh last night, testified that he had found him lying in a stupor across the railroad tracks running between Prince and Worthen streets, in danger of being killed by a passing shifting engine, should one

Dr. Ada Morton-Lewis and her wrestler-husband, "the Strangler."

WIFE OF ED. ("STRANGLER") LEWIS
THRILLS AS BUDDY "STRANG-LER'S" RIVALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The words "wedlock" and "headlock" are almost synonymous in the vocabulary of Ed. ("Strangler") Lewis, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship. They both spell success! As proof, it, the "Strangler's" wife—formerly, Dr. Ada Morton of San Jose, Cal.—will probably be in her husband's corner the next time the latter "goes to the mat" with a rival grappler; and will be cheering, undoubtedly, as Lewis applies the deadly "headlock" in an effort to pin his adversary's shoulders to the canvas.

Dr. Morton-Lewis, who continues to enjoy a lucrative medical practice in San Jose, is inordinately proud of her husband's prowess as a wrestler. Grace-Poman and catch-as-catch-can. His strength and agility, indeed, are responsible for the marriage, which occurred about a year ago.

"I get a wonderful thrill every time that my husband throws an opponent," said the "Strangler's" wife after his recent victory over Tom Drake. "I can't describe this particular feeling. It is a sensation that I have yet to understand thoroughly."

"Bobby has beaten every great wrestler in the world," she added. "Yes, I know that he has been beaten, but never decisively. My ambition is to see him crowned the undisputed champion of the universe, and I know that the time will not be long before this ambition is realized.

"I never interfere with his training because I know that his is the master mind when it comes to his own profession. He consults me about his matches and I will give him what advice I think will benefit him."

As to her husband's claim to the world's championship—that is a moot question. The other aspirants to the title—Stecher, Caddock, Zbysko and Piestina—insist that the "headlock," which Lewis has perfected to an astounding degree, is a foul hold. Usually they refuse to meet him unless the "headlock" is barred.

But the wrestling authorities—at least, those who control the game in America—have ruled that the "headlock" is legitimate. Therefore Lewis claims the world's title by default.

"Bobby can throw his opponents without using the headlock," explains the wrestler's wife, "but why should he be denied the use of a hold that has been proclaimed legitimate? Stecher specializes on the body scissors. Zbysko uses the toe-hold—why shouldn't Bobby use the headlock?"

If Mrs. Lewis decides to "second" her husband in his next match she will merely lend him her "psycho-energetic" support. She positively denies that she will either swing a towel or attempt to tell "Bobby" how to do his work. "No one can do that," she exclaims. "Bobby knows more than all the rest of them put together."

4 PER CENT REFERENDUM
AGITATES OFFICIALS

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 3.—Regardless of how far the referendum on 4 per cent beer comes out in the voting tomorrow, the legislature will be powerless to enact the law it asks for. The act of congress limiting the alcoholic content of beverages in the United States to one-half of one per cent has made such action by the legislature unlawful, if not unconstitutional.

The question now agitating the state officials is as to how the subject shall be handled, since it appears that there is no way to prevent the acceptance of a legislative bill providing for such a law should those who favor it submit one to the general court. Neither Speaker Warner nor Clerk Kimball, nor yet the president of the senate, has the authority to refuse to receive the petition.

It follows, it was stated today in the house clerk's office, that the bill must be received and presented to the membership and when it is the legislature will be face to face with the question of state's rights, which presumably was settled by the Civil war, but which actually never has been settled. For this reason the state authorities are viewing the referendum tomorrow with mingled feelings, most of them favoring a large vote in opposition to it as the best way out of the predicament.

Killing the referendum, however, will not prevent the filing of the bill itself, which already has been drafted and is in the hands of the gentlemen who engineered the whole thing.

There are three ways the affair can be handled after the bill has been placed in the legislature. The first is to greet it with a motion to refer it to the next legislature. Instead of assigning it to a committee. Once before that has been done when Channing Cox as floor leader of the house moved such disposition of a special message of Governor Frost. It is a strong armed method of handling a petition, however, and may be passed up in favor of less drastic action.

The next scheme is to have the attorney general submit an opinion to the legislature as to the standing of such legislation should it become law. There is no question as to what the opinion would be, with congress already having decided the matter.

A third plan is to receive the bill and the petition and to refer both of them to a committee. That body could then report it "leave to withdraw" when it could be killed in the house. Under this plan, however, the measure would come before the house for debate and the state's rights issue would be raised, a question not favored by legislative leaders. The latter are in favor of the second plan, which is that the committee act upon the bill and that it then be submitted to the attorney general for his opinion.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Edward F. Woodward and Miss Mary A. Sherburne, both of this city, were united in marriage at the Grace Universalist church on Saturday evening by Rev. Herbert E. Benton, pastor. The service was performed at 8 o'clock. Pains and chrysanthemums, effectively arranged, formed an attractive decorative scheme, while the gowns of the bridal party, blended beautifully to make a most charming scene. The bride was attended by Mrs. Eugene Whitacre as matron of honor and by the Misses Ruth Pilling, Leslie Pilling, Emily Wiggin, Evelyn

Woodward and Hazel Hanchett of Lowell and May Bacon of Brookline as bridesmaids. The best man was Mr. Frederick G. Leary. The ushers were Messrs. Butler Goodell, Chester Gray, Aiden Sherman, Robert Potter, and William C. L. of Lowell and Eugene Whitacre of St. Paul, Minn. The bride's dress was of white georgette and she wore a veil caught up by orange blossoms and carried white sweet peas and orchids. The matron of honor wore a gown of golden tulle and carried single chrysanthemums of the same shade. The dresses of the bridesmaids were of varying shades of pinne velvet, bluish green, lavender and pale blue. Each carried a crooked

staff on which were tied clusters of chrysanthemums. As the bridal party entered and left the church the wedding music was played by Miss Edith M. Chase, organist. After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward will live at 12 Cascade avenue.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—(Havas)—Following closely upon the snow storm of several days ago, snow fell in various parts of France yesterday. The fall in Paris was especially heavy and was accompanied by intense cold. Marseilles is also suffering under the severe cold wave.

REDS REPORT CAPTURE OF 1500 PRISONERS

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Russian soviet communique of Sunday, received today by wireless from Moscow, claims the capture of 1500 prisoners in the taking of Petropavlovsk, 166 miles west of Omsk, from the Kolchak forces.

The statement also reports fighting of the fiercest character in the Finnish gulf region and a continued advance by the Bolsheviks all along the line against the Russian northwestern army of Gen. Kudenitch. The occupation of many villages in the Luga-Gdov sector to the east of Lake Peipus, is claimed.

In the campaign against the Poles the Bolsheviks assert their forces have effected a crossing of the River Berezina, taking numbers of prisoners.

Gen. Denikin's current communique, received by wireless claims the capture of Boorov, southeast of Voronezh, towards the right flank of his line. He concedes the abandonment of Kromy, in the Orel region.

In the Archandinsky district, General Denikin's troops, he reports, surrounded a Bolshevik division and took numerous prisoners.

"WETS" AND "DRYS" CONFIDENT IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Spokesmen for both the wets and drys today made pre-election claims to victory at tomorrow's election at which a vote will be taken upon repeal of state-wide prohibition and other prohibition measures.

Voters will be asked to pass on three proposed constitutional amendments and two referendums. Two of the amendments and both referendums relate to prohibition and were initiated by the wets. The other amendment would provide for classification of property for taxation.

Much interest centers in the Ohio election, as this is the only state voting upon state-wide prohibition this fall. To date Ohio is the biggest state having voted prohibition. The effort to repeal prohibition, adopted by the voters a year ago by a 25,000 majority comes after less than six months of the dry regime, as prohibition did not go in effect until May 27 of this year.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON ARRIVES AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 3.—Sir Thomas Lipton, again a challenger for America's cup, arrived here today on the steamer Carmania, bound for New York. The Irish yachtsman said his trip would be a short one. He wishes to inspect his challenging yacht, Shamrock IV, which has been set up in a crib in a New York yard since war conditions in 1914 prevented holding the race set for that year. Sir Thomas said he would also "see how America's cup matters stand."

It is his intention to send over in the spring of 1920 a 231-metre "trial-horse" yacht to assist the Shamrock in tuning up preparatory to the cup races. He will return to the United States himself some time next spring.

The Carmania stopped here to coal on her trip from Liverpool to New York. Sir Thomas will continue his passage on the steamer.

CONTROL OVER SUGAR

Bill Proposing Continuation of Federal Control Reported to Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The bill proposing continuation of federal control over sugar during 1920, was reported today to the senate and placed on the calendar with a view to early action.

In a majority report, Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, author of the bill, and chairman of the senate agriculture sub-committee, which investigated the sugar shortage, declared "a serious situation will ensue" if the sugar equalization board's control over sugar is discontinued.

Minority views, presented by Senator Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, expressed agreement in the plan to continue the sugar board, with authority for its purchase of Cuban sugar, but opposed giving the board power to buy and sell domestic sugar as an unwarranted interference with natural economic laws and as likely to unduly depress prices of Louisiana and other domestic sugar.

Senator McNary's report suggested that present conditions were largely psychological, due to fears of future shortage.

Data in the hands of the committee, the report stated, showed that about 730,000 tons of Cuban and domestic sugar was available for distribution until Jan. 1, which should meet the needs of the country. The world shortage of sugar was estimated at two million tons over the pre-war average.

"The Cuban crop," the report stated, "if not controlled by this government working through the Sugar Equalization board, will supply a field for competition with the resultant effect of extraordinary high prices for raw sugar, with corresponding reflection of increased prices to the consumer."

Senator McNary said the committee believed the two-thirds of the Cuban crop remaining could be acquired reasonably, although at prices higher than if the board had been authorized to buy it last summer. In this connection the report detailed failure of President Wilson to approve recommendations of the board that the Cuban crop be purchased.

In gathering returns from distant coast districts. Both the government and opposition parties had full tickets in 18 constituencies and there were several independent candidates.

The government party, led by Sir Michael Cashin, who has been prime minister since last May, was opposed at the polls by a new organization headed by R. A. Squires and embracing the Fishermen's Protective union. Close contests were expected in many districts.

ISSUED BY THE N. E. Coal Dealers' Association

DIRECTIONS FOR USING STEAM SIZE ANTHRACITE IN DOMESTIC HEATERS AND STOVES

"Small sizes with a little care, can be burned successfully in connection with the larger sizes of Anthracite. When banking the fire for the night spread a small amount of Pea or Buckwheat over the top of the fire, being careful to leave a thin bright spot at the side or back of the fuel bed. In mild weather some Pea or Buckwheat may be used during the day. A bed of ashes should be carried on the grate to prevent the fine coal from running through the ash pit. The amount of Pea or Buckwheat that can be successfully burned will depend upon the draft available and the care exercised in firing, but there should be little difficulty in using one shovelful of Small Coal to four of the coarser coal.

Where the draft is strong it may be possible to burn a much larger proportion of the small fuel.

How to Burn Pea or Buckwheat Coal in Furnace

Storage—Provide a place for this coal in your cellar, either a separate box or coal bin. Don't mix it with the larger size coal. Have a place for each size.

Day Mixture—Fire one shovelful to three or four of larger size.

Night Mixture—Use more small than large coal when banking fire at night. This coal will keep well and will not give out as much heat. Find by trial how much you need to keep fire all night. Find by trial how to set the dampers to make the fire keep. Don't close furnace until the flame appears on top of the coal.

With a furnace of ample size and good draft small size coal can be burned alone with good results. Start the fire with wood and large size coal. New grades are not needed. Shake down ashes when fire is hot. Stop shaking ash when first live coal appear. Always leave some ashes on the grate.

Small size coal will replace from 10 to 30 per cent. of the larger sizes.

It will pay you to try it.

SCHOOL PUPILS MUST
KEEP OFF R. R. TRACKS

Supt. Hugh J. Molloy of the school department has asked Frederick R. Woodward, acting headmaster of the high school, to notify the pupils of that school that walking on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad is unlawful. It is understood that a number of students have been in the custom of walking along the tracks near the school in taking short cuts to or from their homes. Mr. Molloy says in his letter that the high school pupils should set an example in this respect for other pupils. His letter to Mr. Woodward follows:

Mr. Frederick R. Woodward, Acting Headmaster of the High School.
My Dear Mr. Woodward: Please notify the pupils of the high school that walking on or along the tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad is trespassing on private property and is a violation of the law. Regardless of what other pupils may do in this respect, high school pupils should set a good example and obey the law.
Very truly yours,
HUGH J. MOLLOY,
Superintendent of Schools.

J. H. BOARDMAN BUYS
TALBOT RESIDENCE

The Julian Talbot house at Nesmith and Chestnut streets, assessed at a value of approximately $12,000, Saturday afternoon was sold at auction and bid in by J. Harry Boardman of the Old Lowell National bank for $9000.

A box containing jewels of the old Talbot family was found by George Nash when preparations were being made for the removal of household goods and although their sentimental value is considerable, it is said that their actual worth is not great. They evidently had been mislaid among a lot of other personal effects.

A fairly sized crowd attended the sale, but the bidding was spasmodic and light. The house is extremely large containing 17 rooms of old high posted style. Its interior finish is exceptionally fine, however, much of the woodwork being mahogany and quartered oak. Prior to the sale, it was believed that one or two local societies or clubs would make an attempt to purchase the property, which seemed admirable for such a purpose.

THREE MORE LOWELL
SAILORS PROMOTED

Proof positive that Lowell's young men who are enlisting in Uncle Sam's fighting fleets have the right stuff in them is found in a communication received by Chief Gray of the local naval recruiting station today, stating that three more boys from the Spindle City have been promoted to a higher rank. Raymond J. Belanger, 73 Church street, who enlisted as seaman, second class last June, has been promoted to fireman, second class. He is now stationed at the naval training station at Newport, R. I.

Arthur R. Pelletier, 531 Merrimack street, is now rated as seaman, second class. Pelletier enlisted as apprentice seaman on the U.S.S. Taylor last June.

Arthur J. Higgins, 41 Prospect street, was recently promoted to the rating of water tender on board the U.S.S. Leviathan. He enlisted during the summer of 1918 as fireman, first class.

NO FOOL LIKE AN OLD FOOL

MONEY FLOWS INTO
TREASURER'S OFFICE

The treasurer's office of the city of Lowell has been enriched to the extent of $1,072,130.93 by local taxpayers since the first of the 1919 tax bills were sent out. This amount has been received by the city in payment of this year's taxes in addition to a large amount paid on taxes levied in previous years.

However, the city has not yet received all that is coming to it. The total 1919 levy which must be paid by the public before the city treasurer can clean up his books is $2,857,076.71. This means that there is still $684,445.78 due to be paid on this year's taxes.

Although the notice on the tax bills says that interest will be charged on those bills which are not paid October 15, this year, however, people who managed to get in before the first of November were allowed to get away free of interest charges. Beginning today interest will be collected from each person who has as yet failed to pay his 1919 taxes.

CHANGES IN PARCEL
POST SHIPMENTS

There have been some changes made in the parcel post regulations relative to the sending of goods to Germany, according to Postmaster Meehan of Lowell postoffice. Among the articles which now cannot be sent there are butter, meat, bacon, flour, ginger, pineapple, vanilla, lobster and oysters. Up to a limit of 11 pounds the following foodstuffs may be sent: Margarine, fats (lard), biscuits, crackers, macaroni, coffee, tea, cocoa, chocolate and sweetmeats generally.

Parcel post business at the local office is increasing by leaps and bounds, the postmaster states. Fully twice the amount of business of a year ago is now being handled here, and each week the increase becomes more marked.

William A. Walsh of Lowell addressed an enthusiastic assemblage at the Boston and Maine carshops, Billerica, this noon, in behalf of Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor and the other democratic candidates. Over 1000 workers listened attentively to the speaker and he was vigorously applauded when he concluded. Mr. Walsh said the election tomorrow was one of the most important ever held in the commonwealth. He said that the issues had been clearly presented and that all were familiar with the attitude of both candidates. He told of the many humanitarian measures Long had inaugurated in his factories, how Long had always been the friend of the working man. He declared that the republican stand for "law and order" was a political trick, and that Long and all other democrats always stood for law and order, and always would stand by the laws of the state. He also spoke of Long's plan for giving the former service men a

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Officials of the United States Steel Corporation at Gary, Ind., claimed many men who have been on strike for six weeks would return to work today because of a promise to supply them with coal for personal use at cost. Owing to the strike of soft coal miners stocks in commercial yards of that city have already diminished, while the steel corporation has a large supply.

Republicans AND Car Riders

I have always been an active Republican except when I followed Theodore Roosevelt. Many years I stumped this state for the Republicans. I know Richard H. Long—he is a business man—a fighter. Thirteen years of my life were spent in the operation of street railways. Richard H. Long's stand on the taking over of street railways with a five-cent unit of fare appeals to me. Voters should not be fooled by this "law and order" talk. Remember—that issue is being raised to make you forget Mr. Long's progressive and businesslike program for Massachusetts. The speeches of imported, misinformed Republican Governors, United States Senators and Congressmen have done more to stir up class feeling in Massachusetts than anything I have heard or read.

Richard H. Long is a tried friend of the soldiers and the workman. He will insist upon a bonus of a year's pay, $360, for every service man. Less than the large incomes of Massachusetts for one month will suffice to pay it.

He favors liberal wages and salaries for workmen and women, particularly state, city and town employes who are now underpaid. There would have been no police strike if the men had been given living wages and decent treatment.

Richard H. Long has always been liberal, broad-minded. His gifts of public parks, the use of his estate by the soldiers when he was not in politics, his gifts to churches of all denominations and to returning soldiers, show his humane makeup and kindly interest in the comfort and welfare of others.

The election of Richard H. Long will be a triumph for progress and the working people of Massachusetts.

CARD. GIBBONS LAUDS
QUEEN ELIZABETH

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—The king of the Belgians, accompanied by the Duke of Brabant, the Belgian ambassador and members of his suite, paid a short visit to Trinity college last Friday afternoon just prior to the ceremony of conferring the degree of doctor of letters by his eminence James Cardinal Gibbons on her majesty, Elizabeth, Queen of the Belgians, which was carried out in the assembly hall of the college, in the presence of the members of her suite and of the Belgian embassy staff, who accompanied her majesty.

In the company invited to be present were the members of the cabinet, of the supreme court, of the senate and house of representatives, together with the board of ladies' auxiliary of the college, the officers of which include honorary president, Mrs. Miles P. O'Connor; acting president, Mrs. Thomas A. Carter, widow of Senator Carter of Montana; honorary vice president, Miss Mary Roach; acting vice president, Miss Rebecca E. Shanley; recording secretary, Mrs. N. E. Fealy; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rose A. Dugan, and the 75 members of the board, including Mrs. Maurice Francis Egan and Miss Ella Lorraine Dorsey.

Queen Occupies Throne on Stage

The queen, with the cardinal and the apostolic delegate, Mgr. Bonzano, occupied thrones on the stage and grouped about them were high church dignitaries, including Rt. Rev. Bishop Shanahan, president of the Catholic university; the faculty of the college and of the Catholic university; Bishop O'Connell of Richmond and Bishop Corrigan.

Their majesties were met on their arrival by the president of the college, Sister Catherine Aloysius of the Order of Notre Dame of Namur, Belgium, which forms the teaching staff of the college, together with professors from the university. This is an educational order, with their mother house in Belgium, where they have 40 or more houses, 15 of which were destroyed by the Germans. They have a like number in this country, and their work in the Belgian Congo has been so meritorious that a former king of the Belgians decorated the reverend mother of one of their houses there.

Cardinal Gibbons Lauds Queen

Cardinal Gibbons is the president of the board of trustees and of the advisory board of the college, and in conferring the degree spoke of his great pleasure in having this opportunity to honor the queen, whose example was a model for all women, and he wished her and her royal consort godspeed on their voyage home.

In response the queen said:

"I am most grateful to your eminence for the kind words which you have spoken, and I deeply appreciate the high honor which has been conferred upon me by Trinity college."

"I discern in this attention a desire to honor Belgium through me, and to emphasize the unity of ideas which exist between our countries."

"Intellectual Belgium holds the American universities in high esteem; we know that these centers of culture are the hearth on which burn the fires of justice, beauty and truth, therefore I am proud to be admitted by Trinity college to the degree of doctor of letters."

"This ceremony gives me the opportunity of expressing to the Sisters of Notre Dame at Namur and their pupils my deep gratitude for the devotion and assistance they have shown during our days of trial."

"I form the best wishes for the further success and prosperity of Trinity college, which is so closely connected with Belgium."

Bishop Shanahan Welcomes Queen

WILHELM'S HUMBLE ABODE

AMSTERDAM—If allowed to remain in Holland the ex-kaiser will reside in a new castle just purchased in Doorn. While magnificent enough it is humble when compared with his castles in Germany. However, the allies may not let him stay.

Sharkey, John M. Gookin, Mr. Conway, Michael J. Noonan, John Sullivan, Timothy Rourke, Miss Della Dillon, Miss Kelly, Mrs. Bridget Goggin and Patrick Moran.

The following financial committee was also appointed: P. J. Mahoney, John Barrett, John P. Sheehan, Michael J. Sharkey and James O'Sullivan.

President Mahoney then introduced Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I., as the principal speaker. In opening, he said that all present were there in a common cause—to show their love for the country of their birth or of their ancestors. Ireland's position at the present time he characterized as critical and said that it was remarkable how people could go on about their business there despite the omnipresent soldiery. He said that although there was tremendous opposition to the Irish cause there is still much to be hopeful for. He cited the downfall of such great empires in recent years as Russia and Germany and said that "we have seen the great British empire with her back to the wall." Its internal position, he said, gave no guarantee as to how long the country will be able to maintain its power.

The speaker paid tribute to the Irish commission which visited France and said that they were of a type to be proud of. He was given an enthusiastic ovation at the close of his remarks.

Michael J. Noonan was the next speaker. He dwelt on the need of an increased membership of the local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom. He said that the American dollar should be used as a bullet in combatting opposition to the Irish cause.

He paid a tribute to the leaders of the organization in Lowell and, in closing, asked that everybody present do his or her best to double the local membership. A number of other speakers discussed the campaign from various angles and the drive was started on its way with plenty of enthusiasm.

The cost of living in Japan has increased tenfold since 1917, while wages have advanced fourfold.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Friends of Irish Freedom
Plan to Comb City

The Friends of Irish Freedom made plans for a thorough combing of the city to increase its membership at a well attended meeting in Hibernian hall last evening. It is hoped to double the present membership of the Lowell branch in the next few weeks and from indications in evidence at last evening's meeting there is every reason to believe that this hope will be realized.

A number of speakers were present to explain the object of the campaign and to exhort those present to exert themselves to the limit in bringing in new members. Among them were Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., James O'Sullivan, President Patrick J. Mahoney, Michael J. Sharkey, John Barrett, John P. Sheehan, Patrick A. Hayes, Michael J. Noonan and Miss Della Dillon. Each was confident that the local membership would be doubled easily after the campaign set into its stride.

The initial fee is $1 and members may be signed up now for the entire year of 1920. Last evening everybody present was given membership cards to distribute and have signed before the next meeting. The campaign committee embraced members from each of the city's wards will also comb the city in the quest for new members.

President Patrick J. Noonan presided at last evening's meeting and asked for the appointment of a nomination committee to bring in at the next meeting a list of officers to serve for the coming year. The following were nominated from the floor: Michael J.

well attended meeting in Hibernian hall last evening. It is hoped to double the present membership of the Lowell branch in the next few weeks and from indications in evidence at last evening's meeting there is every reason to believe that this hope will be realized.

A number of speakers were present to explain the object of the campaign and to exhort those present to exert themselves to the limit in bringing in new members. Among them were Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., James O'Sullivan, President Patrick J. Mahoney, Michael J. Sharkey, John Barrett, John P. Sheehan, Patrick A. Hayes, Michael J. Noonan and Miss Della Dillon. ENDICOTT APPEALS FOR SUPPORT OF COOLIDGE

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Henry B. Endicott, addressing his remarks to all the citizens of Lynn and the shoe workers in particular, last evening, said:

"When your city was suffering from the most disastrous labor trouble in its history, I was asked to come to Lynn to do what I could to save the city from the gradual decay with which it was threatened. For five long, weary months many thousand shoe workers had an empty envelope. You all know the story. Both the employer and the employee expressed the belief in my business judgment, and at a meeting held at the mayor's office between the representatives of the unions and the representatives of the employers an arrangement was entered into and the factories were immediately opened and have run almost continuously ever since."

"In my judgment, the future of Lynn as a shoe centre depended upon the decision made at that meeting. In my decision, finally rendered, there were bound to be many disappointments, but I found the shoe workers of Lynn and their leaders were a wonderful people. The loyalty with which they accepted my decision proved to me that they were workers who would put Lynn upon the map again and keep it there, and they have done it and today Lynn stands high in the women's shoe industry of the world, and their loyalty has been repaid, as I knew it would be, by voluntary increases in wages granted since my decision was made."

"At the time my decision was rendered I received many letters of thanks from the citizens of Lynn, but the letters that touched me most deeply were those from the shoe workers themselves. Some of them said frankly that they were disappointed, at the same time expressing their absolute belief in my sense of justice and my business integrity."

"Now, I am recalling these circumstances because, as you are all aware, I have never asked a favor from a single citizen of Lynn, nor do I ask one now for my own sake; and even now the only favor I ask is that all the citizens of Lynn who believed in me when they were in trouble believe in me now."

"I feel dead certain that the business of Lynn and of every other city and town in the commonwealth will be seriously affected if Gov. Coolidge is not re-elected by a handsome majority in the coming election of next Tuesday. I am a democrat, but I put the interests of my state ahead of any party line, and I myself shall vote for Coolidge."

MATHEW TEMPERANCE INSTITUTE

An interesting meeting of the members of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held yesterday afternoon with President Reilly in the chair. New members were initiated and applications for membership were received. Treasurer Durkin reported that the recent coupon contest had been a success, and the financial report of the club showed the organization to be in a flourishing condition. It was reported that a ladies' night will be conducted in the rooms of the institute on the evening of Nov. 11, and a committee of three composed of the following was appointed to make arrangements for a series of whist parties during the winter months: Thomas J. Durkin, Bernard Tully and Patrick F. Nestor. It was announced that Bernard Durkin had been selected as musical director for the musical show to be given next January and that rehearsals will start next Sunday.

HALLOWEEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Alma Snowman entertained a score or more friends on Friday at a Halloween birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Snowman in Kenwood. It was the 11th anniversary of her birth and the occasion was made additionally happy because of the Halloween festival which falls on the same day. All sorts of group games were enjoyed and Mrs. Snowman gladdened many hearts with the serving of refreshments. A musical program afforded much pleasure and the little hostess received many greetings as the evening came to a close.

LONG ADDRESSES THE HENDRICKS CLUB

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—"The Old Guard may die, but it never surrenders; tomorrow is another day."

With that parting warning, Martin M. Lomasney, democratic leader in ward 5, brought one of the most enthusiastic and significant meetings of the Hendricks club held in recent years to a close late yesterday afternoon.

Ex-Congressman and ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, recently unseated in congress, and Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, and the candidates for the local offices on the state ticket, had preceded the picture-quest leader and the crowd was eager to hear from their leader himself.

True to his reputation, Martin did not mince words; he touched on many subjects, eulogized the lamented Benjamin F. Butler and likened the famous democrat of the past to Mr. Long of today, and finally, as was expected, discussed the recent contest in congress, whereby Mr. Fitzgerald was unseated and Congressman Tague declared elected.

Mr. Lomasney scored Gov. Coolidge and the republican party as instruments of the interests, and declared that this contest was a fight between capital and labor, and urged every voter to come out Tuesday and vote the straight democratic ticket.

"Richard H. Long, who fought his way alone in the world, as did I, has every dollar to his name invested in Massachusetts industry. Do you think he is a safe man for governor? I do," he concluded.

Long Well Received

Candidate Long was well received. He, too, declared that next Tuesday's election was a contest between organized wealth and the workingman. "My opponents believe as a manufacturer I should be on the side of organized capital, but I am not."

He referred to the police strike, and declared that Judge Gary, Morgan and the Massachusetts capitalists opposed to him desired to make Boston the battle ground for the war between capital and labor.

LONG AND COOLIDGE BOTH CLAIM VICTORY

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The police strike in Boston, made a political issue, has aroused unusual interest in the state election to be held Tuesday. At convention time there was considerable discussion of a League of Nations, but the subject rarely was mentioned on the stump. Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, early in a vigorous campaign declared that if he were elected his position would be that the striking policemen should be reinstated. Several former policemen have toured the state, appealing particularly to workmen. Long has asserted that the Coolidge campaign was of the kind that if successful would lead to industrial slavery for all working men and women, whether engaged in public employment or private industry.

Governor Coolidge who at the time branded the striking policemen as deserters and unworthy to be again entrusted with the preservation of law and order, has reiterated that if re-elected he will stand where he stood when the men quit their posts. The republicans have claimed that the issue was national, in that the police strike was the symptom of radicalism that, unchecked, would destroy all government. On this theory republican speakers from far and near were brought into the state. They included former-President Taft, Senator Poindexter of Washington, Senator Lodge and Govs. Allen of Kansas, Bartlett of New Hampshire, Spruell of Pennsylvania and Miliken of Maine.

Long was the democratic candidate a year ago and was defeated by Coolidge, whose plurality in the state was 17,035. His majority was 7356. Long led Coolidge in Boston by a few votes less than 20,000. Only the republicans and democrats appeared in the primaries this fall, the other parties having failed in 1913 to cast the 3 per cent. of the total vote required to get them on the primary ballot. However, the prohibitionist, socialist and socialist-labor parties nominated state officers through nomination papers.

Charles S. Baxter, who directed the speaking drive of flying squadrons throughout the state in behalf of the republican candidates, said last night that "it would not be surprising if Governor Coolidge were victorious by 50,000 votes." The election of Richard

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The Boston Central Labor union yesterday adopted resolutions calling upon organized labor and its friends, irrespective of party affiliations, to cast their ballots for Governor Coolidge's "strongest opponent" to the end that "we may remove this menace to the public safety and vindicate the justice of our cause."

The resolutions charged the governor with allowing the police commission "to force upon the police a situation whereby it was necessary to go on strike" and "by his lack of good judgment and tact" with allowing a situation to be created "whereby murder, robbery and other crimes have been committed on the streets of Boston," and with having caused "by his acts and speech a spirit of antagonism and hatred against organized labor which is contrary to the ethics of an officer of the state."

He found Lowell in about the same Sahara-like condition as his home town; that is to say, he did until he met some friends.

Friends told John that although Lowell 2:15 had died a sudden and somewhat unexpected death last week, there was always to be found a concoction known as "Jakey" by those who would seek diligently for it.

To make a long story short John, being, as aforesaid, a fast traveller, found the "Jakey." Shortly afterwards a Lowell policeman found John, rather the worse for wear, and booked him at police headquarters for drunkenness.

In police court this morning John blithely agreed that he had been drunk. Court asked John casually how long he figured it would take him to get out of town.

"Oh, about five minutes, I guess," replied John.

"I'll give you half an hour" came back the court, and it was so ordered. Clerk Trull informing John there was a six months' jail sentence awaiting him if he failed to make the boundary line under the time limit.

However, John is some fast traveller in his way, so we don't anticipate that he'll linger long on his way home.

News of the Churches

The Feast of All Souls, a day of devotion set apart in remembrance of the dead, was observed in all the local Catholic churches today with masses in the morning offered up for the repose of the souls of those departed.

Next Friday will be the first Friday of the month and will be appropriately observed with masses in the morning and holy hour devotion in the evening. Confessions will be heard Thursday afternoon and evening.

At all the masses yesterday the preachers appealed for support of the Red Cross in its membership drive which began today.

St. Patrick's

Rev. Joseph A. Griffin sang the high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and Rev. Dr. Supple delivered the sermon. There were many communicants at the early masses. Today the usual masses in observance of All Souls day were celebrated, the 9 o'clock mass being solemn high.

Immaculate Conception

Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor, celebrated the 8 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday and members of the Y.M.C.I. and Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body. Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., assisted in giving communion. Rev. James B. McCarroll, O.M.I., celebrated the high mass and Rev. W. B. Conroy delivered the sermon. Vesper services in memory of the dead were held last evening.

Sacred Heart

Members of the Holy Rosary sodality of the Sacred Heart church received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday. Rev. William Mahan, O.M.I., was the celebrant and Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., the pastor, assisted in giving communion. Rev. John H. Doherty, O.M.I., sang the high mass and the pastor preached the sermon. Services for the dead were held last evening.

St. Peter's

Rev. Francis L. Shea celebrated the late mass at St. Peter's church yesterday and the pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Keeler, Ph.D., delivered the sermon. At the 7:30 o'clock mass members of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion. Rev. Peter Linchman was the celebrant and the pastor assisted in giving communion.

St. Michael's

At the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church yesterday members of the Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body. The mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, and Rev. James F. Lynch assisted in giving communion. Rev. Thomas J. Heagney celebrated the late mass and Rev. Francis J. Mullin was the preacher.

St. Margaret's

Rev. Charles J. Galligan, the pastor, celebrated the high mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday. Members of the women's sodality received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass, of which Rev. Stephen J. Murray was the celebrant. The novena which started in this parish a week ago will be brought to a close at 7:30 this evening.

St. Columba's

Rev. Francis McNellie celebrated the high mass at St. Columba's church

yesterday and Rev. Patrick J. Hally, the pastor, officiated at the early masses. Members of the Women's sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. A representative of the Home for Destitute Catholic children was present at the late mass with eight children and all of them were given homes by members of the parish.

St. Joseph's Parish

Members of Notre Dame de Lourdes sodality received communion in a body at the early mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday. Rev. Aurelien Merell, O.M.I., celebrated the parish mass and Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I., was the preacher. At St. Jean Baptiste church Rev. Antoine Amoyot, O.M.I., celebrated the late mass and Rev. Eugene Turcotte, O.M.I., the pastor, preached the sermon.

Notre Dame de Lourdes

Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., celebrated the early mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes church yesterday at which members of Notre Dame de Lourdes sodality received communion. Rev. J. B. A. Barrette, O.M.I., preached at all the masses. Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., the pastor, celebrated the parish mass.

St. Louis

Beginning next Sunday there will be five masses every Sunday at St. Louis' church instead of four as at present. Masses will be at 6:30, 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock. Rev. J. B. Labossiere, the pastor, spoke at all the masses yesterday in behalf of the campaign for funds for a new rectory now going on in this parish.

Calvary Baptist

Rev. Asa R. Dills took for his sermon topic at the Calvary Baptist church yesterday morning: "Visions." The evening topic was: "Revision."

Fifth Street Baptist

"The Massachusetts Baptist Convention" was the subject discussed at the Fifth Street Baptist church yesterday morning. Rev. C. R. Marston was the preacher. In the evening Rev. R. P. Currier of Rangoon, British India, spoke on the theme: "Burma and the World War."

First Baptist

Rev. Arthur C. Archibald conducted both services at the First Baptist church yesterday. His morning topic was: "The New Day for Baptists." In the evening the choral union of the church gave a musical cantata entitled "Triumph of David."

Immanuel Baptist

"Watching With Jesus" was the topic discussed at the Immanuel Baptist church yesterday morning. Rev. D. J. Hatfield was the preacher and spoke in the evening on the theme: "Jesus, the Way."

Paige Street Baptist

Rev. Earl J. Favro preached yesterday morning at Paige Street Baptist church on the topic: "Muscular Christianity." The evening topic was: "Is It Right to Do Wrong?"

Worthen Street Baptist

"What Jesus Asks of His Friends" was the topic of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Rev. Walter A. Woodbury at Worthen Street Baptist

THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

And Escaped an Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hazeltown, Ga.—"I have used your remedies for only ten months, and they saved me from an operation. Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so ill from a female trouble that I was forced to stay in bed for a week at a time with weakness and pain, but your medicine has done so much for me that I am recommending it to all suffering women. It certainly is a great medicine and is a sure road to health for women. You may publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. W. C. LITTLE, R.F.D. A, Hazeltown, Ga.

Women who suffer from headaches, nervousness, backache, the blues and other symptoms of a functional derangement should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such ailments of women after other medicines have failed.

If you want special suggestions in regard to your condition, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of long experience is at your service, and your letter will be held in strict confidence.

GETS HIS LICENSE BACK

Joseph Jean Held Blameless for Accident—Other Licenses Revoked

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, November 3.—Joseph A. Jean of Lowell has received from the Massachusetts highway commission a clean bill of health in respect to the automobile accident in which he was involved September 16, and which resulted in the death of Theodore Stamatoopoulos of Lowell. After a thorough investigation of all the circumstances attending the accident, the commission has decided that it occurred without fault on the part of the operator, and Jean's license, which was suspended immediately after the accident, has been reinstated and returned to him.

The commission has reached the opposite conclusion, however, in relation to the accident of August 14, which resulted in the death of Lillian Allard, and in which Henry W. Allard was the operator of the fatal car. The announcement of the commission is that it is unable to find that the accident occurred without serious fault on the part of the operator, and consequently his license has been revoked.

Another license revoked by the commission is that of George W. Ellison, Jr. Action was taken against him because the commission learned that on October 29 he was convicted in the Boston municipal court on a charge of operating an automobile in such a manner that the lives and safety of the public might be endangered, and paid a fine of $150.

Alvah H. Nickles has lost his license for a period of at least one year, as a result of being convicted in the Lowell court October 4 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The chauffeur's license of Charles L. Bond of Boston has been suspended by the commission, pending an investigation of the accident in which he was involved October 13, and which resulted in the death of Frank Zanoni of Lowell.

GOMPERS AND THE MINERS

It is rather unfortunate that President Gompers of the A. F. of L. comes out squarely in opposition to the stand taken by the government in relation to the miners' strike. He argues that the miners are fully justified in their course, which if true would make it appear that the government is not justified in interfering on behalf of the public—the people of the entire nation threatened with a fuel famine that would cripple all industry.

Mr. Gompers need not feel at all alarmed over the action taken by the government. It is made necessary by the dangerous possibilities of a strike declared at the opening of the winter and liable to continue for months if the miners were allowed to have their way. There is no attempt whatever to deprive the miners of their legal rights. Just at present the law that was in force during the war for the protection of the people is applicable to the situation brought about by the miners' strike and it is very properly invoked. After the formal declaration of peace, this law will lapse but may be extended by congress if considered necessary to suppress dangerous industrial outbreaks.

Ultimately, however, no such law will be enforced and there will be no attempt either now or at any other time to violate any constitutional right of the miners or any other class of toilers.

Labor leaders must remember, however, that the public interest is paramount and that when a labor strike threatens grave consequences to the people as in the present instance at least, it is the duty of the government to intervene, either to bring about a settlement or to prevent violations of law.

One of the reforms much needed and likely to come in the near future is the prohibition of labor strikes in all public utilities and the establishment of a proper tribunal with power to settle all disputes likely to affect the continuity of such service.

The fact that radicals of the worst kind have been operating through labor unions, makes it imperative upon the government to exercise extreme vigilance, lest any revolutionary movement should gain headway under the guise of a labor strike, sanctioned by leaders of the American Federation of Labor.

Apparently, Mr. Gompers vouches for the honesty of the miners' claims to higher wages and other concessions. It is to be hoped that he is not mistaken in the character of the men he thus defends. But, whether he is or not, the interference of the government will not injure the miners, but rather help them. There is little doubt that the government while sending troops to the mines, has also appealed to the mine owners for concessions that may lead to a settlement of the trouble without any of the alarming conditions that usually follow a strike of this kind. Such a termination of the strike would be a great source of satisfaction to the public everywhere and might avert what would otherwise prove to be a desperate struggle, entailing great suffering to thousands of people and perhaps, also, the loss of a number of lives.

The government proceeds against the strike as a conspiracy against the public and also in defiance of the government. It is the duty of the government not only to protect itself but also to protect the public from an attempt to cut off the fuel supply which is essential to life and industry. Every labor leader who defends the action of the miners, and ignores the interests of the public becomes equally amenable to the penalties of the law under which the strike is branded and condemned as a conspiracy.

Nov. 11, the anniversary of the declaration of the armistice and a legal holiday in Massachusetts and some other states.

But if the treaty be ratified the following day, the celebration of the holiday may be prolonged among the people who really believe that the treaty is the best arrangement that can now be made not only for the rest of the world, for the nations large and small, but also for the United States.

Should we cut aloof from the other nations now after having taken such a leading part in the reorganization of the world, the result would be calculated to renew confusion and disorder in many countries and seriously to react upon our own country in lessened trade and a loss of respect and good will among the leaders of civilization.

There is no reason why the nations should not unite in a pact for the preservation of world peace, having the function of the Hague tribunal with the great fault of that tribunal—the lack of power to enforce its decrees—eliminated. The time has arrived when nations as well as men must be held amenable to law for their misdeeds and when small nations must be protected against the rapacity of the powerful, with the result that even without war much that is oppressive will be overcome merely by remonstrance and the fierce light of publicity throughout the civilized world.

But the merits and demerits of the treaty have been discussed at great length and there is now a very general demand heard throughout the country—let us "Have It!"

THE CHARTER QUESTION

The Sun on Friday published an analysis of Plan B charter, issued by the Board of Trade and the result of careful study by a special committee. After looking it over, any person at all familiar with charters can see that it has many defects over and above that of not providing for primaries.

Without the primary sifting process the officials chosen will in nearly all cases represent the choice of a minority of the voters. That is not a healthy method of choosing public officials. On the other hand, as will be noted in the synopsis referred to, Plan B has not so much restriction upon the methods of spending money as are provided under the present charter.

It should be remembered that Plan B which will be voted upon tomorrow is not the Curbett charter or Plan B with amendments awaiting the attention of the General Court next year. It is the original skeleton, which is nowhere favored without amendment.

The subject has been very fully discussed during the past few months, so that anybody who has given any attention to the matter will be able to decide intelligently as between the present charter and Plan B.

NOW FOR THE VOTING

Everybody has heard from everybody else on the issues of the election and now it is up to the voters themselves. Seldom have the citizens of Lowell been appealed to more earnestly for support in behalf of political candidates whose cause has been strongly pleaded by their friends and fiercely assailed by their enemies. The intelligent citizen has listened and drawn his own conclusions; and he has already made up his mind as to how he will vote. Further argument, therefore, is useless. The great question is now to have every legal voter get to the polls and register his choice of candidates, and exercise his best judgment upon the referendum questions on the ballot.

Several of these are of considerable importance and should not be passed over lightly. In this class are Charter Plan B and the double platoon system for firemen. In each particular case, stand firmly for what you believe will best serve the interests of city, state and nation.

It is to be regretted that the local street railway company finds it necessary to break up the block paving in some of our best streets. We presume that this is never done except when it is unavoidable, but there would be little cause for complaint if the company in such instances left the paving in as good condition as before. Unfortunately, none of the public service companies does this. When a street is torn up to repair a track, remove or transfer an electric light pole, the companies are not particular as to the condition in which they leave the street or sidewalk after they suppose they have finished the work. In hundreds of places throughout the city, the wire companies break concrete sidewalks and leave a considerable space around the poles, filled only with rough stones or gravel. This is not as it should be and is not justice to the city or to the public and should be stopped.

It is astonishing how prevalent is the gambling craze among young people, the crap game being the most commonly used, in public parks, vacant lots, sidewalks and alleys.

Where did the boys learn it might be asked, but there are so many such games in progress that it would be difficult for any boy to avoid learning it. First it may be practised for mere amusement, then for gain; from this an advance will be made to other games, and thus the gambler starts. Many of those who begin in this way wind up in disgrace as professional gamblers so wedded to the game that they cannot abandon it. Despite the efforts of the police to stop it here in Lowell, it still goes on in perhaps 1000 places every day and every night.

The Middlesex county teachers at the convention on Friday discussed means of securing higher salaries, but although it had been stated that the American Federation of Labor had proved its great power in this respect, yet there was no sentiment in favor of joining that organization. The association, however, did vote to join the state federation of teachers, which should be able to yield considerable influence with the powers that be, if it only federates in the usual way.

Despite President Wilson's illness there was no dallying over the miners' strike. Steps were taken to deal with it from the first moment of its existence and that under the processes of law. Alertness in meeting such a situation makes all the difference between success and failure.

Lenine says the chief trap in the hands of Russian Bolsheviks is international revolution without which the cause in Russia must fail. Thus we can more readily understand the zeal with which the advocates of soviet government are spreading their propaganda in this country.

The king and queen of Belgium made a good impression here wherever they appeared, owing to their democratic ways, so different from our idea of royalty, but there is no much difference in the crowned heads as among any other class of individuals.

A correspondent writes to ask "What will be the substitute for the saloon, the poor man's club?" We do not know that there will be any substitute inasmuch as the people who frequented the saloon must have that or nothing. They will accept no substitute.

Those dazzling auto lights should be dimmed at night. Apparently some of those who use them do not know what a glare they cast in the eyes of those approaching. It would be well for the police to notify them.

The Mexicans are putting up the ransom demanded for the release of our consular agents. With $150,000 for Jenkins, we may expect $200,000 for the next who is kidnapped.

The hint by President Gompers of the possibility of a sympathetic strike may never go any farther; but such a strike in aid of the miners would be tantamount to war on the government of the United States.

It is gratifying to find that even in case of dealing with the men—being coal strike, congress lines up with President Wilson. Congress might well take action that would prevent such a situation in the future.

Truly representative American news is being distributed in China for the first time in the history of the country. Heretofore the only American European news received in China was distributed by Reuters or by the German agency Ostasiatische Lloyd or by the Japanese Agency Kokusai. In spite of the fact that American news has been made available, the news printed in the far east has been largely limited to reports of crime and corruption. During the early months of the war the committee on public information established an American news agency which, though the Chinese people have been led to misunderstand us, leaped into instant popularity. After the armistice, when government funds were no longer available, American business men founded a corporation to maintain the American news agency with private capital. This organization intends to carry out advertising campaigns, to translate and publish American books, collect crop reports and to distribute American seeds to Chinese farmers.—The Nation's Business for November.

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription, one gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakness, bearing-down pains, irregularities, pelvic inflammations, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine are injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

styles that in one way or another resemble the coats worn by the army officers and it is almost impossible to get anything else. Of course, the coats for older men are more conservative but if one is anywhere near that territory that may possibly be classed as "youthful," his fate is sealed and he must submit to the military styles. I venture to say that many of the Lowell veterans of the war got their fill of military clothing while in the service and it must bring back recollections of gone-by days for them to walk into a clothing store now and be confronted by the same formal military pattern of clothing. For the person who is willing to invest a reasonable sum in a coat with the anticipation of its lasting several seasons it is rather disagreeable to be forced to buy a style this year that perhaps next year will be a thing of antiquity.

Daniel O'Connell, the great Irish agitator, once played a great joke upon British detectives and newspapermen who were ready to follow his every word at a great public meeting in the hope of finding some utterance on which he could be arrested on charges of sedition. Before the opening of the meeting he was very respectful to the representatives of the British press, inviting them to the platform and providing them with tables and seats at which they could work with the greatest comfort and with every opportunity to hear everything the great emancipator said. On being presented to the meeting he looked over the vast audience and after bowing to the plaudits of the multitude, he began to speak in Gaelic. Not a British reporter or British police officer understood a single word he said.

Something of the same kind occurred at a rally at the Pawtucketville Social club the other night when William E. Russell, candidate for district attorney, appeared before the club to appeal for support. A number of newspapermen were there to report his address, including representatives of Boston papers, some of whom had shown a particular interest in Mr. Russell, perhaps on account of his being a son of the late Governor Russell. To their utter astonishment when the candidate was presented he delivered his entire address in French and at the conclusion the reporters flocked around him to inquire what he was talking about. He had no intention of slighting the reporters to whom he showed the utmost courtesy.

In an attempt to expedite the movement of traffic and trolley cars in Central street between Market street and Merrimack, the street railway company has abolished the white stop pole which stood near the Chaffin entrance. Cars inward bound now do not stop between Prescott and Market streets and the square. It is a good move and already has been instrumental in obviating congestion in that area. Many people seemingly have not heard of the change, however, and still attempt to stop cars where the white pole used to be. As the cars hurry by many are the uncomplimentary things said about the motorman, but don't blame him, simply blame yourself for not reading the newspapers, which published the information at the time the white pole was abandoned and also your own lack of conception in failing to see that the white part of the pole had been painted out with green.

Never has the traffic problem in Prescott street been more forcibly brought to our attention than on Saturday evening, while attempting to drive through its narrow passageway in order to get into Merrimack square. Throughout its short length, with but two exceptions, automobiles and teams were parked from end to end. The street was wet, which added to the pleasure of driving, and we skidded from side to side in an attempt to turn into one of the two open spaces in the street while machines going in the opposite direction might pass. A street car met us just before we got to the square, so we obligingly backed up 20 or 30 feet and again sought our haven of refuge. The poles along the street carry a variety of signs aimed to prohibit parking, but they are of no more use than if they were on the roofs of the buildings. Prescott street is not only very annoying for vehicle drivers, but decidedly dangerous, and should not be tolerated a minute longer. The double line of parked autos injures the business of the merchants on this street. What we need in Lowell are a few prosecutions instead of a slipshod variety of parking signs. A great many communities take proper pride in their traffic systems, while this city of 125,000 people's shuffles along a decade behind the parade.

Simon D. Harris' name in connection with a public auction sale attracted my attention in The Sun, Saturday, and it recalled to my mind the fact that Mr. Harris after 45 years in the Highlands had sold his residence there. I talked with him shortly after he sold his house, numbered 450 Westford street, and found him delightfully reminiscent. His memory of people, things and events being as keen as though he were discussing the things of yesterday. Although he is pursuing his 76th or 77th birthday, Mr. Harris is still possessed of a vigor greater than the average man at 50 or thereabout.

"When I first went to live in the Highlands," he said, "it was country personified, and I have seen it grow from vacant land to an over-settled community. Yes, indeed, we were in the country when we took up our abode in Westford street and Mrs. Harris and myself have spent many happy years there. It is wonderful, though, the changes wrought by time. There was neither church nor school in that vicinity when we went there and that held true for several years afterwards. There were no electric cars—not even horse cars. Tranquility reigned supreme and we enjoyed sweet nature's rest. Today that section of the city is oversettled and while we have not made up our minds as to future settlement we will probably seek a little more open space than is obtainable there, but wherever I locate I shall retain my real estate office in Lowell."

In relating incidents of the olden days I marvelled at the many little things he recalled, but it proved only the resourcefulness of his memory, and the fact that he was always as much interested in the little things of life as he was in the big things and no detail was too small to come within the scope of his observation. "I remember," he said, "when the cat used to go into woods back of the house and catch young rabbits, little brown bunnies. That was one of the many little things that he wove into the fabric of a most interesting story of olden days."

CONCORD HIGH TOO FAST

Lowell Eleven Scores Once
But Visitors Have More
Dash and Win, 12 to 6

The Lowell high school football eleven made its first touchdown of the season at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon, but it was not sufficient to win from the team sent here from Concord, Mass., high and Coach Conway's light aggregation finished on the small end of a 12 to 6 score.

Lack of cohesion, a sorry inability to offer protection to the back carrying the ball and a hesitancy in putting opposing number plays were the most conspicuous faults in the brand of ball displayed by the local team. On one occasion the forward line did rise in its might and take the ball on downs in the very shadow of its goal posts and in several instances the team showed capabilities of a running attack outside the danger zones, but once the ball was advanced within scoring distance, the offense frittered away, or a fumble marred the forward march.

As to weight the eleven were fairly evenly matched, but Concord showed more fight, more football sense and more earnestness in its play. In Right Half Back Joe Mullaney the visitors finished a mass of uncommon speed and his quarter-back brother John hurried a mean forward pass, covering in flight almost as much distance as an ordinary punt.

Concord scored once in the first period and again in the third, while Lowell's touchdown came late in the fourth quarter with about four minutes of play remaining.

Concord Scores First

Concord kicked off to start the game. It was a poor kick and a Lowell lineman picked it up and carried it to midfield before being stopped. Lowell's attack opened auspiciously and two first downs were registered before O'Hare found it necessary to kick. On the very first play by Concord, John Mullaney wheeled around Lowell's right end for 56 yards. It was a well executed dash and caught the Lowell wingman and secondary defense sound asleep. Lowell braced a bit on its own 10-yard mark and took the ball on downs. An exchange of punts followed, with Lowell finally getting the ball in the center of the field. O'Hare attempted a forward pass, but Joe Mullaney intercepted it and dashed 35 yards before being forced outside on the 15 yard line. A neat forward pass, Mullaney to Christofferson scored Concord's first touchdown. The receiver took the ball while standing within the scoring zone back of the goal posts. The goal was missed. The ball saw-sawed back and forth in the second period and the half ended with the score standing 6 to 0 in Concord's favor.

Third Period

The Concord over-head game again was instrumental in its second score which came early in the third period. Following the kickoff Mullaney shot a 35-yard pass which Christofferson again pulled before and galloped 15 yards being dragged to earth from behind. Three drives through the Lowell line took the ball to the 2-yard line, but here the local eleven came to life and three times held the Concord backs without gain. Lowell immediately kicked, but down came the ball again into dangerous territory when Jack Mullaney ran back the boot to the 20-yard line and then gave the ball to Brother Joe for a sweep around right end to the five-yard mark. On his third attempt, Hemenway drove across the line for Concord's second score. Again the goal was missed. Score, Concord 12, Lowell 0.

Following the Concord kickoff, O'Hare opened up a running attack that carried the local eleven to five successive first downs and brought the ball to Concord's 15 yard line. Five yards were lost on the next play for offside work and a grounded forward pass on the fourth down gave Concord the ball. An exchange of kicks occurred just before the quarter ended.

First Touchdown of Year

Line plays carried the ball from the 18 to the 8-yard line, where O'Hare fumbled and Concord took the ball. O'Hare ran back the punt to the 30-yard line and from that point drove his team to the first touchdown of the year. Liston took the ball over from the 2-yard mark. The attempt at goal went wide. Score—Concord 12, Lowell 6.

Lowell kicked off, but the final whistle blew after two Concord rushes.

LOWELL DEFEATED AT PROVIDENCE, 5 TO 3

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 3.—The Gold Bugs defeated Lowell, 5 to 3 Saturday night. The game was closely contested throughout, and not until the last moments of action was Providence returned the winner.

O'Brien, formerly of the Worcester team, joined the Lowell forces and played good polo until one of the opposition's sticks came in contact with his eye. He was replaced temporarily by Carrigan. On O'Brien's return, a goal was scored by accident, the ball glancing from his stick as he was endeavoring to turn back the Providence attack.

At the end of the first period, Providence led 2 to 1. At the end of the second, 3 to 2. The goal by accident started things wrong in the third period but Griffith came through with a pretty drive and for a time play was tied. Lacks Thompson at length hooked the ball past Pence, and a moment later the bell sounded the close of the play.

The Call'em

If Dartmouth and Colgate go through their regaining games victorious and Harvard wallops both Princeton and Yale, the eastern college championship will be in a pretty muddle. A win for either Colgate or the Green at Hanover on Saturday would have eliminated one contender, but when they played to a deadlock, chances for wide discussion were created, providing each finishes up as it should. Two weeks ago Dartmouth beat Penn State, 19 to 13, in a game which should have gone to the Harvard eleven by a top-heavy score. Penn State Saturday broke Pennsylvania's heart when Polwell's team was thrown in the mud, 13 to 0. Dartmouth should play U. of P. and run into against Brown at Fenway park. Colgate also should continue its winning ways. Princeton is in the depths of despair, following reverses by Colgate and West Virginia and should be easy picking for Harvard. The Harvard-Yale game still is problematical, although we believe the Crimson will start a favorite.

She Would Not Be Coaxed

Seldom has Dame Fortune frowned on a football eleven with such consistency as she did on Dartmouth Saturday. Four times the Green forwards broke through and battered down Colgate punts, yet on three of these occasions a Colgate man recovered the ball. Once Youngstrom flashed through, knocked down the ball, only to see it home off on a tangent and into the arms of Colgate back, who dashed 25 yards before being halted down. No more peculiar twist of fate will be reported on a college gridiron this year than that freak play. From all accounts of the game we have read, Dartmouth, although slightly outstrided in the total of yards actually gained, came out of the grueling contest with her colors at the top of the masthead and if given an even share of the eleven more good than all the season tickets you purchase and don't use.

A Funeral Has More Life

From a total enrollment of about 1600, hardly 100 undergraduates turned out to support their team at Spaulding park Saturday. The handful present cheered only half-heartedly and with no unity. The team was allowed to play out its string as best it might, but received no practical encouragement from the school itself. What's the matter with your spirit, high school? Attendance at the games will do the eleven more good than all the season tickets you purchase and don't use.

Just a Slight Disturbance

Our neighbor across the way, in telling of the football game on Wednesday between the Mitchell Boys school and the high school freshmen, refers to the latter team as the Aggregation, which has been withstanding the shocks of the regular team in practice.

What d'ye mean—shocks?

Educated Feet

Have you ever had a chance to watch a jolly, good game of soccer? Not well. It's a game very much worth while and up in Forge village the Abbot Worsted Co. is represented this year by a dashing coterie of nimble-footed men, who can boot the cover off the blooming egg with the best of 'em. The team play of the Abbot boys is the secret of success and they plan to heel and toe their merry way to the Lowell and Lawrence league championship.

ABBOTS TRIM THE LYNN HIBERNIANS

came through the preliminary round of the national cup competition play on Saturday by defeating the Lynn Hibernians on the Forge Village grounds by the score of 3 to 2. The game was fast and cleanly played, the Boston leaguers being forced to bow down before the excessive speed and team play of the Abbots. The lineup and summary:

POLO TEAMS NOW IN MID-SEASON FORM

With all teams now playing at mid-season form the polo season in the American roller polo league is waxing warm and with all clubs confident of success.

The new men added to the Lowell Lawrence and Providence teams during the past week have greatly strengthened these outfits with the result that the clubs are now well balanced and indications point to one of the most hotly contested campaigns in the history of the strenuous game. The cash prizes to be awarded by the league in addition to bonuses offered by some of the managers have added much in the fight for leadership.

Jack O'Brien, who has been signed to play halfback for Lowell is an experienced man, having played with Worcester and Lawrence last year. It is a big lucky fellow and knows the game from A to Z. Playing on the same team with the brilliant Harkins, it is expected that he will be at his best.

Red Williams and Mulheed have given Providence's pennant hopes great boost, while the acquisition of Lawrence by Lawrence has been the only new sign in that lineup.

Fall River, with Fred Jean at the helm is leading the league, with a slight margin over Frank Hardy's Salem club and the New Bedford Worcester. Worcester, with the speedy "Jugger" Higgins and Lee Taylor on the rush line has a fast and well balanced club.

All games are being well attended with the crowds at Fall River, New Bedford, Salem and Providence, being the largest on record. Worcester and Lawrence also are drawing well, while in Lowell the fans are beginning to turn out in large numbers.

Lowell will play Worcester here tomorrow night and O'Brien will make his first local appearance as a member of the home club. On Friday night Salem will be here. The schedule for the week follows:

Tuesday—Worcester at Lowell; Providence at New Bedford.

Wednesday—Lowell at Worcester; New Bedford at Fall River; Lawrence at Salem.

Thursday—No games scheduled.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

AT C. M. A. C. HALL

Close to one thousand French-speaking republicans, gathered at the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street yesterday afternoon to listen to addresses in favor of Gov. Calvin Coolidge and the other candidates on the republican ticket, the speakers being Congressman Rogers; Joseph H. Warner, speaker of the house of representatives; Lawyer Joseph F. Pelletier of Salem, president of the French-American Republican club of Massachusetts; Representative Henry Achin and Victor F. Jowett; District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts; Frank H. Putnam, candidate for senator in the eighth district, and David Dickson, chairman of the republican committee.

Joseph Provost opened the meeting and introduced as chairman Maxime Leptine. Under the direction of George Carpenter, community singing was enjoyed, and the first speaker was District Attorney Tufts, who spoke briefly on the contest for district attorney. Referring to his opponent, William E. Russell, the speaker said he is listed as being a resident of Cambridge, but his name cannot be found in the telephone book nor in the city directory.

"Mr. Russell," continued Mr. Tufts, "speaks of cases he cannot find on the records of the district attorney's office. Either Mr. Russell does not know where to look for them or he is telling an untruth, and in either case he is not fit for the position." Mr. Tufts then dwelt at length on conditions existing in this country, high cost of living, strikes and labor unrests, and laid all at the door of the democratic party. He concluded by urging all to go to the polls next Tuesday and elect all the republican candidates in order that the bearers of the red flag, who have invaded America, shall be driven out.

Joseph H. Warner, speaker of the house, was next introduced. He spoke at length on what has been accomplished by Governor Coolidge during his term of office, referring to the many bills passed in favor of the workman and ridiculed the many promises of Richard H. Long. He refuted a statement accredited to Mr. Long to the effect that the state of Idaho had given its soldiers a much larger bonus than Massachusetts, and in order to substantiate his statement he produced a telegram from the governor of Idaho to the effect that no bonus had been given the veterans. He spoke of the plan of Mr. Long to purchase the electric, gas and railway companies in this state and said such action would bring about an indebtedness on the state far greater than the indebtedness of all the states of the Union combined.

Lawyer Pelletier of Salem, in advocating the candidacy of Governor Coolidge, referred to the following appointments made by him during his term of office: Dr. Bedard of Lynn, medical examiner for Essex county; Lawyer Montette of Lawrence, attorney for the board of labor and industries; Mr. Lamontagne of Holyoke to the commission to codify the by-laws of towns, and others. He said Governor Coolidge had done more for the French-speaking element of this state than any other governor. He closed by making a strong appeal in behalf of Frank H. Putnam, candidate for senator.

When Congressman Rogers was introduced he was given a great ovation. In opening the congressman told of attending a rally a short distance from Lowell Saturday night, and he said when he first entered the hall he thought he was in the wrong place, for the speaker was a leading democrat of the community. The second speaker was another democrat, he said, "and that led me to make inquiries and I found that I was in the right place and attending a Coolidge rally." Mr. Rogers said the present issue was of men and not of party and the situation in this state overshadows international affairs. "There is a black winter staring us in the face," he said, "and we can help ourselves only by re-electing Coolidge and also by electing the other republicans on the ticket. The whole nation is watching Massachusetts, and if the republicans fail, many another leader of a state, in the hour of test, will fall as he thinks of how Massachusetts threw out a man who stood for law and order. But Massachusetts will be true to her ideal, and next Tuesday she will show the rest of the nation that she is for law and order."

Representatives Achin and Jowett told of their close relations with Governor Coolidge and they both reviewed what had been accomplished by him during the past year. Both urged the voters to attend the polls Tuesday and vote as their conscience dictates. Mr. Putnam made an appeal for Coolidge and the other republicans and also reminded his listeners that his name will appear on the ballot in the senatorial contest in the eighth district. The rally was brought to a close with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," after David Dickson of the city committee had made an appeal for automobiles at the polls next Tuesday in order to convey to the voting stations those physically unable to get there.

INDIAN FOOTBALL TEAM WINNERS

The Indian football team of this city scored a clean cut victory over the St. Mark's Catholic club eleven of Dorchester on the 31st Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon. The score was 20 to

0, but might easily have been larger. For the late arrival of the visitors necessitated the playing of two periods after dusk. Gleason was a tower of strength for the Indians and scored two of the local team's touchdowns. The other one was made by quarter-back Loucraft. The summary: Indians—Chill, re. Egan, H. Coughlin, lg. OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF
BARCELONA LOCKOUT

MADRID, Sunday, Nov. 2.—A more optimistic view of the lockout situation in Barcelona, is being taken by the authorities as the employers and workers have consented to form an arbitration committee. The government will continue its efforts to solve the difficulty and it is considered possible that in the course of this week, a definite solution will be reached.

Pressure has been brought to bear by prominent citizens in an endeavor to have the employers change their attitude.

LOWELL MERCHANTS' RETAIL ASSOCIATION

The Lowell Merchants' Retail association, a subordinate organization of the board of trade, met this morning in the assembly hall of the Y.M.C.A., presumably for the purpose of adopting by-laws, but inasmuch as only a few sections were acted upon, the general adoption was deferred until one week from Wednesday when the association will again meet.

It was voted by the merchants to close their places of business on Tuesday, Nov. 11, Armistice day, and inasmuch as the association is representative of all kinds of stores, the vote passed this morning will mean a general shutdown of the city's commercial activities on the new holiday.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amedee Archambault & Sons.

ATTENTION MILL WORKERS

Never in the history of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has the Republican party, so flagrantly as this year under the lead of Calvin Coolidge, befogged the real issues and tried to cover up under a so-called "law and order" platform. William M. Wood, head of the American Woolen Company, and his associates demand that Calvin Coolidge be elected on the ground that he will carry out their ideas and aid in the enactment of laws which will be beneficial to mill owners.

No doubt, every employee of the textile mills remembers when the owners of the mills where they were employed compelled them to be at their work early in the morning and until late at night. They paid such small, starvation wages that the people employed as mill operatives could not support their families.

The operatives' ten-year-old children were obliged to work like slaves in the mills and were denied educational advantages. Thousands unfortunately never grew up. They were so poorly clad, ill-nourished, that they soon became victims of tuberculosis and other wasting diseases. What did the mill owners care? Children to them were mere chattels. The ordinary mill worker today remembers vividly these terrible conditions, brought about by Republican control in the State of Massachusetts. The same mill owners are spending thousands of dollars to elect Calvin Coolidge.

Neither William M. Wood nor the other mill officials have ever been real friends of the working people. If the mill owners, who are today backing Calvin Coolidge, had their way, the operatives would be working from fourteen to sixteen hours a day under unsatisfactory conditions. Thanks to the unions, changes have been brought about.

The owners of the woolen and cotton mills control about everything. They are among the big stockholders of the street railway systems. They scheme and connive to get a ten-cent fare and high prices from the workers. Richard H. Long has always been a friend of labor. He is the first manufacturer in this State to grant an eight-hour day, and now his employees at his big factories at Framingham work but five days a week and receive six days' pay. Prussian autocratic methods will soon be a thing of the past in mill cities of Massachusetts.

A FINAL WORD AND PLEDGE OF BROAD, LIBERAL AND IMPARTIAL PUBLIC SERVICE

To the Citizens of the Eighth Senatorial District:—

I have tried to impress upon you in this campaign, that I may safely be trusted with the responsibilities of office, as your Senator, and that a broad, liberal and impartial discharge of duty will guide my every act in office. May I ask you to believe in me, and accord me your confidence and support. You will not be disappointed with my public service.

I have tried to present my own qualifications for office, and my ability to represent you. I have not sought to influence you by linking my candidacy to that of any other man seeking public office. In other words, I have stood in my own shoes, and made my fight on my own personality and fitness for office. Is not that the manly way to do it? To hide behind the candidacy of another man, and seek to ride into office by use of his name, is rather a negative way to aspire for public office. Do you not think so?

My final word and assurance to you is this:—You may rely upon me to render faithful public service, having in mind always, that as public official my only duty is to safeguard the interests of ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DISTRICT—to view legislation from the standpoint of what is best for the general good of the district and state, without regard for any faction, party or individual.

That is My Pledge, Mr. Voter, I Can Say or Do No More.

Very truly yours, JOHN T. SPARKS, Draught, Mass.

Workingmen of Massachusetts

No man who is sympathetic with the living problem of the working man in these days of high prices and profiteering should fail to vote Tuesday, Nov. 4th, and urge his friends and neighbors to vote for Richard H. Long. There are people who cheer the news of the rise over night of the value of shares in which they traffic in the stock market, but who hold up their hands in horror when the father of a family asks for wages to make both ends meet. The public is fair. The influences fighting Richard H. Long are unfair and selfish. If you would have a man who has proven his human sympathy by being the first to establish in his big factories the 8-hour day and the 5-day week, with 6 days' pay, you will

Continued

Bingham and Robert B. Cole of Skowhegan, who placed him in custody. They were expected to cover the distance of approximately 80 miles and arrive here early this afternoon.

Burke has figured prominently in the case from the fact that he claimed Bartley shot him through the leg in front of Burke's home about 9 o'clock on the night of October 15, an hour after he and Bartley had left the latter's hotel, the Moose River House, together. That was the last time the hotel man was seen alive, as far as known.

He swore out a warrant the next morning for Bartley's arrest and two days later, as the result of a search made by the latter's brothers and county officials, Bartley's body was found beneath the roots of a tree which had been blown down 40 feet from the road to Canada, two miles north of Jackman.

Death had been caused by two bullet wounds in the head, one in the back and the other, fired at close range, in the forehead.

Burke was placed under guard by two deputy sheriffs at his home, where he was confined to bed with a serious bullet wound in the leg, but the officers were removed upon the arrival of Sheriff Moores. His wound had healed so that he was able to walk out with crutches Friday.

While the officers have been reticent, it was understood that the analysis of the contents of Bartley's stomach at Bowdoin Medical school plays an important part in the investigation. Had digestion proceeded more than three hours, Burke, it was said, would have been exonerated from suspicion. Otherwise he would have to account for his movements between 8 and 9 o'clock on the night Bartley disappeared.

Burke is 36 years of age and married. He was born in Fairfield. Bartley was two years older. He was well known through northern Maine and Canada, and had accumulated considerable money in the hotel and lumber business. The two men were closely associated in politics and in business.
